

Ruthless Man Replacing Relentless Man, Says Vandenberg of Russ Move

WASHINGTON (U) — Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) said Russia's shift of Andrei V. Vishinsky to foreign minister succeeding Vyacheslav Molotov means a "ruthless" man replaces a "relentless" man.

"DO NOT KNOW"

Vandenberg said frankly that "I do not know what the latest shift among the Soviet czars means." He added:

"If the change means anything, it remains for the (Soviet) Politburo overbords to say. But while there is life there is hope."

Vandenberg, chief Republican exponent of the nation's bipartisan foreign policy, was the first top-ranking U. S. leader to offer comment on Russia's sudden switch in foreign ministers. He is former chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

He said in a statement that the two Soviet officials involved—Vishinsky and Molotov — have proved themselves "the most accomplished pair of filibusters I ever saw perform" in thwarting peace efforts.

Vandenberg gave these descriptions of the two men:

"Mr. Molotov is solemn, stern, imperturbable and relentless."

"Mr. Vishinsky is vivid, eloquent, lively — and ruthless."

At the White House, William D. Hassett, presidential secretary said there would be no comment from President Truman on the switch.

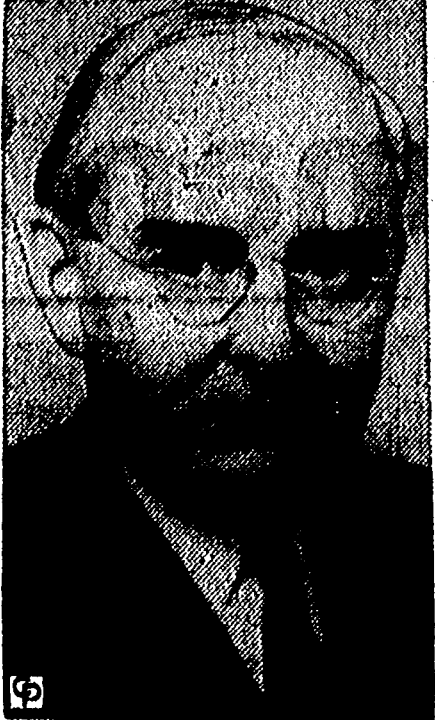

QUESTIONS

The sudden Soviet shift had diplomatic authorities and lawmakers running the whole range of possibilities in searching for a meaning. These veered from a new and dangerous move in the cold war to a sign that Russia may be planning a "softer" attitude toward the West.

Some said it might be no more than a simple administrative change. Officials agreed that only future developments will clarify the situation.

Secretary of State Acheson and former Sec. Marshall withheld comment.

So did Chairman Connally (D-

SENATOR VANDENBERG

cheer from the fact that Mr. Vishinsky, who has been very difficult, is succeeding Mr. Molotov, who also has been very difficult."

But one authority on relations with Russia — who asked that his name be withheld said the change might forecast an easing of tension between the Soviet Union and the West.

Negotiations toward an Atlantic Security Pact, he said, may have "pushed the Soviets into a clear demonstration that their present policies have failed."

DIM VIEWS

But most lawmakers who would comment took a dimmer view.

Officials said there was no prior indication that Molotov was on the way out, or that he was due for a shift to a new post. He has been considered a possible successor to Premier Joseph Stalin.

It was in 1939 that Molotov replaced Maxim Litvinov, generally considered more friendly toward western Europe and the United States.

The change in that case was a prelude to Russia's surprise non-aggression pact with Nazi Germany on the eve of World War II.

Despite murmurs of alarm from Capitol Hill, diplomatic officials appeared unanimous in the opinion that this time no such basic change is in prospect.

POSSIBILITIES

Their speculation included this additional list of possibilities:

1. The relief of Molotov and Foreign Trade Minister A. I. Mikoyan might mean a political overturn within the ruling Soviet agency, the Politburo — although officials said they knew nothing definite to support that idea.

2. Molotov and possibly Mikoyan may be assigned to new posts. But while Molotov has been mentioned to succeed Stalin there is little to suggest that Stalin is ready to step aside now.

3. The change might be entirely administrative. The Politburo, which formerly had a membership of 14, has been reduced in number by two deaths.

'Mom' Nominations

CELBURNE (U) — March 9 has been set as the deadline for nominations for the "Texas Mother of the Year." Nominations, photographs and letters of recommendation will be received by Dollie Davis Smith of Celburne. A selection committee will meet March 13 in Fort Worth.

Terms Agreed On At Texas City

GALVESTON (U) — Company and union negotiators Saturday agreed on a contract between the Carbide & Carbon Chemical Cor. and the Galveston Building and Construction Council, agent for 1,400 striking workers at the Texas City plant of the corporation.

The contract agreement was reached at 4:15 a.m. after an almost continuous session starting at 3 p.m. Friday.

The proposed contract must be voted on by the union membership.

The strike has been in progress since Jan. 23.

W. N. Newman, business agent of the building and construction trades council said a meeting of union members has been tentatively set for 8 o'clock today.

Details of the contract proposals were not revealed but company spokesmen said the new contract is "favorable to both the union and the company."

Officials of the AII union sought a 27 cent an hour increase for the workers. They turned down an 18 cent an hour offer from the company. The present scale for operators is $1.82 per hour and for maintenance men, $1.95.

The plant, which manufactures synthetic organic chemicals is the largest in this Gulf Coast area. It began operation in 1941.

Safety experts say that accidents to farmers cause enough lost time annually to produce more than half of the average annual U. S. wheat crop.

LITTLE PIGGIE LEFT OUT

DALLAS (U) — Any one know a sixth line to that children's poem about "This little piggie went to market, etc.?" The one where you grasp a toe to punctuate each line.

Miss Yula Fely, children's ward nurse at Parkland Hospital here, likes the poem. So does Mike Martin, 14 months old.

But they have peculiar problems. Mike has six toes on each foot. So they don't have enough lines to go around.

Chicken Too High for Him

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (U) — Henry Jacek objected to paying $25 for two chicken sandwiches in a night club last night, so he wound up forfeiting $25 bond in municipal court today.

Jacek was arrested on charges of disorderly conduct after he balked at paying his $25 check. It was explained in court this way:

The chicken sandwiches cost $3.50 each. But the night club has a $7.50 a person food minimum and a $5 a person drink minimum which made the bill $25 for two.

ADMITTS CLOTURE LOOPHOLES

Senate Parliamentarian Pleased With Current 'Nice' Filibuster

WASHINGTON (U) — An expert who has been watching them for 44 years says the current Senate filibuster "is a real nice filibuster."

Charles D. Watkins, official Senate parliamentarian, offered this well-grounded opinion as he took a few minutes away from his job of telling the Senate what its rules are and what they mean.

GETTING SLEEP

"I haven't missed a single night's sleep yet," he said. The Senate has been quelling around 6 o'clock in the afternoon and then starting up again at noon the next day.

He said this was quite unlike many other filibusters in the past 26 years, when senators argued night and day for long periods and caused him to lose too much sleep.

The tall, slow-speaking official has been a Senate employe for 44 years. He has been advising presiding officers of the world's greatest debating society since 1923.

LOOPHOLES

Watkins makes no secret of the fact that there are loopholes in the present Senate rules regarding cloture or limitation of debate.

He also believes that back in March 1, 1917, when the present cloture rules were adopted, senators thought they were agreeing on a method of ending all debate and getting at a vote on issues.

There were only three opposing votes.

Watkins said that both Democrats and Republicans at that time agreed on the method for ending debate on petition of 16 senators and a favorable two-thirds vote on the petition.

Later, presiding officers decided that the gag rule could not apply when the Senate was reading and amending its journal or upon a motion to take up some measure.

"I agreed with them," Watkins said.

NO CONSULTATION

Watkins has not yet been consulted by Vice President Barkley about a possible ruling on the attempt to file a cloture petition at this stage of the current filibuster to preserve filibusters.

That may not be a tip on how Barkley will rule, though, because the former senator is thoroughly familiar with Senate regulations. He violently protested a ruling last year by Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) that cloture could not apply under conditions identical to those now existing.

Air Raid Shield Spreads Across Western Europe

LONDON (U) — Western European allies are spreading an air raid warning network across Europe from the Baltic to the Mediterranean.

First hint of the farflung radar system—similar to the Canadian-American warning network planned for Northern Canada—was given in the British government's white paper on defense.

It said British ground radar equipment is being supplied to France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg "for an integrated early warning system."

An official source disclosed a central warning control headquarters would be established and that

R. A. F. radar stations in the British occupation zone of Germany would be "tied into" the network.

Ultimately radar warning stations stretched from the Baltic port of Lubeck, in the British zone of Germany, to France's Mediterranean coast will be coordinated under the central control.

Just how much progress had been made remained an official secret.

BOSTON — After relieving Francis McGrath of $480 at gunpoint in his store, a bandit shook his head and observed, "This is a tough way to make a living."

Principle Its Own Reward

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (U) — Guy B. Cormany, 48, filed suit for $12,000 damages charging false arrest. He won his case.

The award: Fifty cents. Cormany complained he was arrested on disorderly conduct charges when he protested a parking violation.

The jurors deliberated two hours before returning their 50-cent verdict last night. They didn't explain why they fixed that sum.

Skelton, Truman Talk 30 Minutes

WASHINGTON (U) — Byron Skelton of Temple, Tex., backed by top Texas Democratic leaders for state national committeeman, spent nearly 30 minutes in conference with President Truman Saturday. He declined to discuss the nature of the meeting.

The Texas State Democratic Executive Committee by a close vote recently recommended that Wright Morrow of Houston, present Texas national committeeman, be replaced by Skelton.

Asked by a reporter if he had discussed this with Mr. Truman, Skelton replied:

"All I can say is that I had a very nice visit with the President."

Skelton arrived Wednesday night. He said he had not talked with Democratic National Chairman J. Howard Mc Graw, he smilingly passed off a question whether he had discussed the Texas political situation with other officials at the party's national headquarters.

Skelton said he came here with Hammond Moore of the Temple Chamber of Commerce. They and Rep. Poage (D-Tex) plan to appear before a House appropriations subcommittee Monday to seek funds for the Miller Springs Dam Project near Temple and Belton.

The Budget Bureau has recommended that two million dollars be appropriated for work during the next fiscal year on the flood control dam which it is estimated will cost approximately $25 million when completed.

Global Flight Proves No Spot on Earth Safe From Reach of A-Bomb Toting Planes

Circumnavigation of the globe by the B-50 Lucky Lady II was probably the most important flight of a single airplane since a B-29 dropped the first atomic bomb at Hiroshima.

Lucky Lady II dropped a bomb of sorts: a diplomatic blockbuster.

A Washington dispatch says that the State Department had an opportunity to block the flight, but did not do so. This is in sharp contrast to the department's action two and a half years ago when a somewhat similar "showing of strength" by American bombers was unceremoniously forbidden. It was felt at that time that a world-girdling flight might be resented by the Russians. Those were the days when most Americans still had some faith in the proposition that we might be able to get along with the Russians.

The Lucky Lady II did not fly closer than several hundred miles to Russia or any of her satellite countries, but the significance of the exploit suffered no diminishment thereby. It demonstrated the feasibility of a project that had long been discussed, but never before thoroughly proved: that no spot on earth is safe from the reach of atom-toting American bombers.

The possibility of circling the globe nonstop with the aid of tanker planes has been apparent for some time, but it remained for this B-50 from the Fort Worth heavy bomber base to put an end to speculation and chalk up the actual achievement.

This obviously was a flexing of U. S. muscles, just as a reminder to all and sundry that the atomic bomb has tireless wings. Had we possessed the A-bomb and the globe-circling B-50 in 1939, it is altogether likely that even a megalomaniac like Adolf Hitler would have stayed his hand.

Instead, we had little in the way of an air force—its rank then was sixth among the nations—and the country was hopelessly divided over the question of military preparedness.

We have come a long way since then, in military might and in the awakening of Congress and the people to the peace-keeping influence of sheer military power. Not even the madmen of the Kremlin can ignore the plain implication of the B-50's sensational exploit.

Ruhr District Easing Back Into Control of German Cartelists

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It's been squeezed off the front pages by other news, but certain things have been transpiring in Germany that may someday affect every U. S. citizen qualified to carry a gun.

The German Ruhr, from which sprang two world wars, is gradually easing back into the control of some of the big German cartelists who built up Hitler's war machine.

Twelve Germans have just been nominated to control the Ruhr steel industry, despite the bitter protests of German labor unions and the liberal political parties now struggling against German communism.

The man who selected the Ruhr cartelists — Dr. Hermann Puender — is, himself, interesting. When Hitler first threatened to come into power, Puender was an adviser to Chancellor Brüning, the last Democratic leader of Germany, and wrote a confidential memo advising Brüning not to oppose Hitler too vigorously.

After the war started, Puender served as lieutenant colonel in Div. III, H., Abwehr of OKH, which made him the German equivalent of a Soviet political commissar. For the ABWEHR was in charge of "moral and ideological" and had the job of suppressing Anglo-American propaganda in the Nazi ground forces.

It is this longtime trusted servant of Adolf Hitler who has now been permitted to choose the German steel barons who are to govern the vital industry of the Ruhr.

Dr. Puender has now departed the Washington scene to rejoin Dillon,

Read. And his banking partner, James Forrester, who also helped loan money to the steel cartel, is on his way out as secretary of national defense.

These men justify the juggernaut they leave behind to govern the Ruhr on the ground that a committee of allied steel moguls will supervise the 12 German cartelists.

However, let's take a careful look at this committee. The American members are: William J. Brinkhoff, Werner P. Neumann, Ronald Clark and Ian F. L. Elliott, all of the U. S. Steel Corporation, together with Frederick M. Dillies of Inland Steel.

To get their full background, you have to look at the files of the Justice Department regarding U. S. Steel's secret conversations with the Nazis prior to the war. Especially important is one of the gentlemen on the above Ruhr committee, Ian F. L. Elliott.

For the U. S. Steel Corporation with other big American steel companies were playing hand-in-glove with the European steel cartel, including the Nazis, prior to the war, and Mr. Elliott was the chief go-between in organizing the deal.

Secret Steel Deal Pulled

All this remained secret until the U. S. Army got into Luxembourg and took over the files of the steel cartel. At that time the Justice Department got its first good look at what the barons of the American steel industry had been doing with the Nazis right up to the war. A total of 4,000 documents were seized, showing that during 1938-39 various secret meetings were held in London, Paris and Luxembourg to organize a world steel cartel.

The American representatives for this deal were none other than Tom Girdler of Republic Steel, who has had a virtual pipeline in to Harry Truman through "Truman's close friend, George Allen, Eugene Grace of Bethlehem Steel, and Ben Fairless of U. S. Steel, the company which now supplies four of the men supposed to keep an eye on the Ruhr.

The Nazis were represented at these secret meetings by Ernst Poensgen, head of the Nazi steel cartel; the British by Sir Andrew Duncan of the British Iron and Steel Federation; and the French by Pierre Pucheu and Humbert Wendell of Wendell and Laurent. The European manager for the U. S. Steel Corporation and the chief go-between for both the British and the Americans was Ian Elliott, who now sits on the board of governors for the Ruhr.

During the dates when this deal was organized—1938-39—Hitler had already marched into Czechoslovakia and was greedily eyeing Poland. American correspondents in Europe were constantly warning of war, and this columnist had categorically predicted it.

Feared Justice Department

Despite this, the biggest leaders of American steel worked out a deal whereby they would not compete with Germany, though they admitted they could not control "little steel" in this country. Significantly, also, they refused to sign a written cartel agreement on the ground that they might incur Justice Department prosecution. Instead, they entered a "gentlemen's" oral agreement which they said would be just as binding as a written contract.

Today, therefore, control of Ruhr steel, the key to war in Europe, will be under twelve German cartelists picked by a former Nazi officer, and under the supervision of four U. S. steel men whose boss made a secret deal with the Nazis even while Hitler was waving the big stick over Czechoslovakia and Poland.

Note—It was Herbert Hoover, requested by Truman to make a European survey who first effectively urged the rebuilding of heavy industries in the Ruhr.

More Religious Groups Attacked

The Hungarian government is going after other religious groups besides the Catholics. The Hungarians have cut off Jewish emigration out of Hungary and closed down the offices of Jewish relief agencies in Budapest. The State Department has just received an encouraging report on the French political situation. Both the Communists and General De Gaulle are losing strength. The French middle-of-the-road group is steadily picking up influence — a great victory for Democracy.

OKINAWA--THE ISLAND NO ONE OWNS

Five Major Air Fields Make It Foremost Pacific Defense Line

NATIVE GIRLS IN OKINAWA—An English-speaking Okinawan employed by U. S. Military Government instructs young girls in proper posture and other forms of mannerism to fit them for employment in homes and offices of U. S. Army in Okinawa. Okinawans, released from long bondage of Japan, are docile people. (AP Photo)

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Russell Brines, chief of the Associated Press Bureau in Tokyo, recently visited Okinawa and the Philippines. In this article he discusses strategic Okinawa, about which little has been written since the end of the war.

By RUSSELL BRINES
Associated Press Staff

TOKYO — A handful of Americans on Okinawa—still littered with the debris of typhoon and battle—are trying to prepare an advance dike against any Communist tide that may flow from Asia.

Five major air fields on the tablelands and coastal plain have made bloody Okinawa the keystone of America's foremost defense line in the Pacific.

The advance line sweeps up from the Philippines through Okinawa and Japan to Alaska. Behind it lie the air fields of Guam and the Naval Base at Hawaii. Clark Field, about 50 miles north of Manila, is being groomed as a major and self-contained base.

Okinawa—the island no one owns and everyone wants—is both the key and enigma of this aerial line of defense. It is in the center of the line—within 200 miles of the South China coast and within heavy bomber range of Siberia.

Bought with 7,000 American lives Okinawa also has been claimed at various times by China, the Philippines and Japan. Until its status is settled definitely the question of U. S. funds to build it up properly likely will remain confused.

PROGRAM SET BACK

Air Force officers are saying—as did ground force officers in the Philippines seven years ago—that they are trying to do too much with too little. The program was set back seven months by the disastrous typhoon of 1948. Planning has been handicapped by uncertainty over the amount of funds to be made available.

At present Okinawa has only half the aerial and ground force strength necessary for offensive and defensive operations in a quick war. Much remains to be done to make it over into a major base.

Americans also are conducting the quietest and least noticed of their world-wide operations. They are trying to revive the economy of 500,000 Okinawans and about 300,000 other natives in the rest of the Ryukyu Island chain.

War is only slowly leaving this rugged, 60-mile-long island.

The war dust now are gone home. The rusting hulls of ships and lighter crafts are still impaled on reefs, killed by wartime gunfire or the disastrous typhoons of 1945 and 1947.

15,000 SOLDIERS

There are 15,000 soldiers here and numerous civilian employees and their families.

Most of them live in quonset huts near the air fields or near the headquarters of the ground forces. At the end of the Trans-Pacific supply line, they frequently find commissary articles limited.

Some all-weather housing units and barracks have been built, but uncertainty over funds has delayed the program. The buildings erected so far supply only a fraction of Okinawa's needs.

A sense of uncertainty and frustration is augmented by the constant threat of typhoons and the feeling that Washington cannot make up its mind about Okinawa's future.

But the work of enlarging and improving the air fields continues. Combat training goes on all the time, with a lot of eager young pilots always anxious to take up their fast jet fighters.

Administration of the island is under the Ryukyu command of the ground forces. The ground forces are commanded by Maj. Gen. W. W. Eagles.

THE GROUND FORCE

The Philippine scouts, who have made up most of the ground force, gradually are being withdrawn and probably will be succeeded by replacements from the United States. Military authorities probably have had less trouble from the natives than anywhere else in the Pacific. The Okinawans, released from the long bondage of Japan, are a docile, ragged people.

About 73,000 of Okinawa's 110,000 families are farmers. They work their own small plots of sweet potatoes and rice.

Even so, from 35 to 50 per cent of the food must be imported by Americans. This cost $12 million last year, said Capt. John H. Sharpe, Swansea, S. C., military government commerce officer on Okinawa.

Plans are being made to rebuild small production and the fishing industry to make Okinawa more self-sufficient. There also are phosphate deposits.

But with at most only 20 per cent of its land arable, and with industry negligible, Okinawa's economic future is bleak.

Okinawans say they are just getting by on average of wages of 245 yen a month, compared with 5,300 yen a month in Japan.

They have rebuilt their crowded villages with no evidence they resent the destruction of their homes by Americans. In time of war, say military officials, this complacency would be an asset.

Non-Business Deductions On Income Tax Explained

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 11th of 12 stories on who has to do what about his 1948 income tax return, for the deadline is March 15.)

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (U) — This explains some of the deductions you can, and can't, take in making your 1948 income tax returns. Also listed are some kinds of income which, because they're tax-free, don't have to be reported at all.

POINTS TO REMEMBER

Remember, right here, a couple of points:

1. There are various limits on the deductions you can take for medical expenses. They're explained at the end of this story.

2. For charitable contributions you can deduct no more than 15 per cent of your income.

3. But there's no limit on the other kind of personal deductions you can claim, if you can prove you had them and are entitled to them.

4. Don't get business deductions mixed up with personal deductions. On your 1948 long-form there are separate places for each kind.

This story deals only with non-business deductions and where they appeal to be business deductions they're merely those of an employee, not employer.

TAX FREE INCOME

Here's tax-free income which doesn't have to be reported:

U. S. employment compensation; social security benefits; life insurance paid because of the death of the insured; inheritances, gifts or bequests of money or property, although the income from them is taxable; sickness and injury benefits received through accident or health insurance or under workmen's compensation laws. Also—Monthly government allowances to the families of servicemen; mustering out pay; all benefits under the GI Bill of Rights, such as for education and subsistence; state bonuses to veterans; disability pay; retirement pay for service-connected disability; allowances for uniforms; subsistence, traveling, quarters; pensions to veterans or their families for war services; all active service pay of enlisted men in the armed forces; and the pay of officers up to $1,500.

PERSONAL EXPENSES

Here are personal expenses which can be deducted:

Dues to a labor union; state income and personal property and real estate taxes except taxes which, like paying assessments, tend to increase the value of your property. Also—

Interest on your personal-note to a bank or individual; a mortgage on your home; a life insurance loan, if you pay the interest in cash; delinquent taxes; interest on installment purchases. Also—

State or local retail sales taxes; auto license fees; poll taxes; state gasoline taxes, except in Alabama, California, Florida, Louisiana, North Dakota, Utah, Wyoming, and Hawaii, property losses from fire, theft, storm or accidents when you weren't willfully at fault and you didn't get paid off for the damage; use of your car for business, which includes the cost of gasoline, oil, grease, repairs, cleaning; entertaining for business purposes; subscriptions to professional journals; books and magazines bought for use in your profession; equipment, tools, and instruments used on your job; cost of work clothes and uniforms when not capable of taking the place of ordinary clothing.

CAN'T DEDUCE THESE

You cannot deduct the following federal taxes unless paid for business purposes: telephone, telegraph or transportation, such as train or bus; admissions to theaters or sporting events, or club dues.

Nor can you deduct the federal tax on jewelry, furs, cosmetics, estates, inheritances or gifts imposed by the government, states or cities.

You can deduct for medical expenses but only that part which exceeds 5 per cent of your income. Example: Jones' income, $9,000; his actual medical expenses, $600. But 5 per cent of his income is $450, which leaves him only $150 to deduct.

Even then you can't deduct an unlimited amount for medical expenses. Here are the limits:

Taxpayers claiming only one exemption, his own, $1,250; taxpayers who are single or who are married and file separate returns and have dependents, $2,500; married couples filing a joint return and claiming their own two exemptions, $3,750; married couples filing jointly but claiming four or more exemptions, $5,000.

THE TEXAS POLL

Little Support For Fractional Coins

By JOE BELDEN
Director, The Texas Poll

AUSTIN — The movement to sell Uncle Sam on the idea of issuing two new coins won't get very far if it is depending upon support from rank and file Texans.

A cross section of Texas adults questioned in a statewide survey voted overwhelmingly against the issuance of 2½ and 7½-cent pieces, which have been proposed by the American Institute for Intermediate Coinage. The institute is trying to persuade Congress to issue these two new coins as an aid to business.

Fractional coins strike most Texans as not such a good idea, although the institute claims merchants could put more attractive prices on their goods if 2½ and 7½-cent coins were in use.

The Texas Poll sounded opinion with these questions:

"Some business people are trying to get the U. S. government to issue two new coins—a 2½-cent piece and a 7½-cent piece. Do you think a 2½-cent piece is a good idea, or not such a good idea?"

Good idea 14
Not such a good idea 78
No opinion 8

What about the 7½-cent piece? Do you think that it is a good idea or not such a good idea?"

Good idea 13
Not such a good idea 79
No opinion 8

It has been about 60 years since anything like a 2½-cent piece was circulated in this country. The nearest thing was a 3-cent copper; it was discontinued in 1889. Nothing like a 7½-cent coin has ever been authorized.

London Burlesque Is Proper Lady

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON (U) — When you go to a burlesque show in Britain you don't take your opera glasses. They are against the law. Notices on the theatre put it very plainly:

"Any additional artificial aid to vision is not permitted."

It has been ruled that spectacles and monocles are all right, but that the use of opera glasses, telescopes and such is offensive to public morals. One waggish sailor who brought his sextant was sent home.

The girls are very pretty and the costumes are cut after thoughts which someone almost forgot. But, what with regulations, inhibitions and the old restraints of British character, burlesque in London is a proper lady. She is not the rowdy gal sometimes met in the United States.

There isn't much burlesque in Britain these days, but what there is of it is a substantial enterprise with handsome balance sheets. It ought to be, because the United States Army, Navy and Air Force, not to mention the Marines, have given the Little Windmill Theatre near Piccadilly Circus what amounts to a $50,000 pounds ($200,000) foundation.

Some of the jokes sparkle, but they are not permitted to sizzle. Sample: "Some men like a wife of 40. Others prefer two of 20."

The Windmill, called that because in ancient times there was a windmill on that very spot, recalls the GI's fondly. One of the girls, Jill Antsey, who dances, sings and looks decorative in next to nothing, is now a seasoned veteran of 22, and remembers clearly when there were Americans in London.

STAMPING, CLOMPING

"You never heard such stamping and clomping, and you have no

More than a million GI's paid admissions at the Windmill and the theatre still feels the oomph of that burst of wartime prosperity. It was burlesque, and how the GI's liked it! But it differs from the American model.

There is no strip tease in Britain. Nudity is tolerated and it has its admirers.

But it must be rigid nudity—not to say frigid. A girl may be a beautiful statue without a dress. She may strike an artistic attitude while the curtain is down hold it firmly while the curtain is up. But she must not move. Wriggling nudity is out, and the strip tease has no future in Britain.

STAMPING, CLOMPING

"You never heard such stamping and clomping, and you have no idea how the place was stuck up with gum after a show," said Jill. "They were the grandest audiences, much warmer than our English. And they were really very well behaved, after you got used to the yelling."

The Windmill is well established as a Piccadilly institution and it is very proud of one record. It dished up burlesque and peppered up morals right through the blitz, and became the inspiration of the American motion picture "Tonight and Every Night."

On Sept. 7, 1940, there were 42 theatres running in London's West End. Then came the Luftwaffe and a week later there was one theatre on its feet in the west end—the Little Windmill.

An electrician was killed by a bomb. Several of the girls were wounded by splinters. They slept in their dressing rooms. The show went on, a fact now proudly proclaimed by a tablet at the door.

The sturdy little enterprise, managed for 17 years and now owned by Vivian von Damm, is making its own movie. It has organized an Aero Club for its girls. The girls work only every other day, but get paid for every day. They get medical and dental care, and life insurance and holidays, and the theatre pays their bills at the beauty parlors.

"No artificial aid to vision—that's us. If everyone had opera glasses the girls would have an uneasy feeling that someone was staring at them," says Kenneth Bandy, public relations chief.

College Choir To Make Annual Tour in May

The annual tour of the Choir of the East Texas Baptist College will begin May 3 and the group of students composing the Choir will visit cities in Northeast Texas, parts of Louisiana and Arkansas.

The choir is made up of a group of singers selected by audition from the College Chorus and consists of approximately 20 students. The Choir is the principal traveling group of the college. Each year the Choir makes a tour presenting sacred music in Baptist churches throughout the area they travel.

Singing engagements for this year are quite complete, but will cover new territory this year in Arkansas and Louisiana. In addition to sacred music the Choir has several secular and novelty numbers to be used for schools and other secular music programs.

His wife, Adeline, 28, agreed to dismiss her divorce suit before Judge Julius H. Miner if Bryzek lives up to the terms. She agreed not to order him out of the house during the ninety days.

Rotary Club to Award $450 Annual Scholarship

A Rotary Club scholarship amounting in the aggregate to $450 a year will be awarded to a 1949 graduate of Marshall High School for the 1948-49 college year, Charles A. Fry, president, revealed Saturday.

Details of the plan were announced to the high school student body at an assembly program last week. Award of the scholarship will be based on need, character, academic record and leadership, Mr. Fry said. An eligibility qualification is that the student must be a graduate of Marshall High School and have attended the school for two years.

Funds for the scholarship will come from earnings of the student loan fund which the service club formerly operated, plus the revenues from an increase of $5 in the annual dues. The scholarship will be awarded on a year-to-year basis.

Mr. Fry said it is hoped eventually to expand the program to four such scholarships, and the possibility of operating a miniature train and other playground equipment in one of the city parks, from which additional funds would be secured, is being investigated.

Interested students are invited to submit their applications to New-

STILL SOUGHT

Bank Robbers Get $40,000 And Escape

DENMARK, Wis. (U) — Three men who staged a successful $35,000 to $40,000 bank robbery Friday when an elaborate protective system failed still were at liberty today.

George de Broux, president of the Denmark State Bank, said two masked bandits scooped up all but $500 of the bank's currency. They fled from this northeastern Wisconsin community of less than 1,000 in a car driven by a third man.

Emery Kroening, Green Bay Press-Gazette photographer, quoted de Broux as saying the bank's protection system had functioned — but only to a point.

The system involved a buzzer in a second floor office across the street from the bank, which was to bring an office tenant to his window with a high-powered rifle to shoot down any emerging bandits.

Kroening said he was told that the buzzer worked, but all the ammunition for the rifle was locked in a safe.

City Rules Out Shift Sleeping Seven to Room

ROSELLE, N. J. — The board of health ruled today that "shift sleeping" in two bedrooms by 14 persons is stretching the use of living quarters too far despite a shortage of housing here. The health board was told by tenants they slept in shifts, bedded down crosswise.

Report Royall To Leave in April

WASHINGTON (U) — The capital heard reports Saturday that Army Sec. Kenneth C. Royall may step out of his job by mid-April.

The reports came from persons who, because of friendship and official association, were in position to be well informed but who could not permit use of their names.

They persisted despite a White House news conference statement by President Truman Thursday that all three service secretaries—Royall, Navy Sec. Sullivan and Air Sec. Symington — would stay on their jobs. Mr. Truman made that comment in connection with his announcement that Louis Johnson would succeed James Forrestal as defense secretary.

Recently there has been talk that Jonathan Daniels, son of the late Navy Sec. Josephus Daniels and editor of the Raleigh, N. C., News and Observer, might be brought in as Navy secretary. The thinking was that John L. Sullivan, the present secretary, might become secretary of Commerce should Charles Sawyer depart from that job.

Jobs Shifted but Molotov, Mikoyan Still Hold Government Authority

MOSCOW (U) — Responsible officers of the United States Embassy in Moscow said Saturday the shifting of V. M. Molotov and A. I. Mikoyan from ministerial posts does not imply any lessening of their great authority in the Soviet government.

Embassy officers and other responsible western observers here believe that members and alternate members of the Russian Communist Party's Politburo derive their basic authority from their membership in this top policy body. Both Molotov and Mikoyan are still Politburo members.

Molotov also remains first deputy chairman of the Council of Ministers of the U. S. S. R. — a position second only to that of Prime Minister Stalin in governmental authority.

Mikoyan also continues as vice-chairman of the council of ministers.

It was suggested by American and British observers here that Molotov probably will devote a large portion of his time and energy to his work as first vice-chairman of the council. By doing this, it was suggested, he would be easing the burden of work on Stalin.

The observers do not feel that the Molotov and Mikoyan retirements from ministerial posts mean any foreign policy change.

They claim no analogy can be drawn between the retirement of Maxim Litvinoff from the position of people's commissar foreign minister for foreign affairs in 1939 and the retirement of Molotov,

One Killed In Army Base Fire

OAKLAND, Calif. (U) — One serviceman perished in a fire which swept the provost marshal's office at the Oakland Army Base early Saturday.

Maj. George Foster disclosed the soldier was not attached to the base but was passing through Oakland and had been given a bunk for the night.

The fire which struck the two-story wooden structure was of undetermined origin. The first alarm was sounded at 2:52 a.m. and it was brought under control at 4:21 a.m., Foster said.

13 Linked With Cardinal Convicted in Hungary

BUDAPEST, Hungary (U) — A workers' court convicted 13 persons Saturday of black market money deals in an alleged political conspiracy with Josef Cardinal Mindszenty and sentenced them to prison.

Simultaneously, Communist Deputy Premier Matyas Rakosi charged diplomatic documents proved the Vatican had plotted to form a "union of Catholic countries as a Danube monarchy. He said in a speech that efforts to reach an agreement between the Roman Catholic Church and the Hungarian government failed

"because the Vatican placed their interests at the disposal of American imperialism."

(The Vatican has refused to negotiate church — state differences with Hungary until Cardinal Mindszenty is freed from his life sentence and freedom of religion is guaranteed in Hungary.)

Among the 13 convicted Saturday were Magr. Imre Boka, the cardinal's former treasurer, and two other Roman Catholic priests.

Magr. Boka's sentence was fixed at four years' imprisonment, loss of political rights for an additional five years, and a fine of 1,000 florints ($83).

The heaviest sentence — eight years — was imposed of Dr. Gabor Horthy, former secretary to Duke Paul Esterhazy. Horthy and pleaded guilty and asked that blame be placed on him, rather than on the duke, who was convicted Feb. 8 with Cardinal Mindszenty and sentenced to 15 years in prison. Esterhazy once was the wealthiest man in Hungary.

Truman Given Setback On Tax Boost Proposal

WASHINGTON (U) — Two top-ranking tax experts in the Senate said Saturday that President Truman's demands for a four billion dollar increase in taxes suffered a major setback last week.

They contended that a little-noticed decision by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee actually involved a test of sentiment on the presidential plan for new taxes.

That influential committee tossed out an administration request to erase earmarking of a three billion dollar fund for foreign aid by the last Republican-controlled Congress.

The intended effect of the earmarking was to lift the three billion dollars out of the huge 1947-48 treasury surplus and use it this year. The administration called it a phony bookkeeping device to hide a deficit condition created by the Republican tax reduction.

President Truman ignored the fund switch in figuring his budget.

Its Only Master is the Person at Its Wheel!

From the standpoint of agility, smoothness and quickness of acceleration — the 1949 Cadillac is a never-ending challenge to the imagination. Yet, in the hands of the person at its wheel, it is as docile as a kitten! Never before has a car so dynamic been under such certain and easy control. The big, powerful hydraulic brakes are completely dominant — yet they are as soft to the pedal as a sponge rubber. A touch from the damper foot — and the car settles down to a quick and easy stop. A touch on the accelerator, and it moves quickly into any position its driver wishes to occupy. The big, slender steering wheel is feather-light in the hand — and quick and positive in its action.

Yes, the driver is in a Cadillac! It's a great thrill to take command of such a car — as hundreds are learning every day. Why not come in and see for yourself? Regardless of the price class from which you expect your next car to come, you ought to be familiar with Cadillac.

Books-In-Brief

Non-Fiction
THE ADVENTURES OF MARCO POLO: Edited by Richard J. Walsh. John Day Co. $8. — This new edition of the widely read English translation focuses attention again on an old favorite made additionally attractive by the careful reduction of footnotes and the insertion of modern place names next to the ancient ones.

JOHN HANCOCK: PATRIOT IN PURPLE: By Herbert S. Allan. Macmillan, $6. — John Hancock's beautiful signature on the Declaration of Independence, his supposed remark that King George could read that without his spectacles, and the crazy idea that he was a smuggler are about all that Hancock is remembered for now. He has long needed a good biography, and Herbert S. Allan has written a sound readable life story that fills a big gap in popular knowledge.

AS WE SEE RUSSIA: By Members of the Overseas Press Club of America. Dutton, $3.75. — Twenty-five American journalists and radio reporters, all with wartime experience in Russia, have written their ideas about that country in this book of firmly expressed essays. The writing is frankly journalistic; interesting, informational, factual rather than analytical, speaking to give no more than a thin slice of the truth.

LET'S VISIT CANADA: By Byron Steel. R. M. McBride, $3.75. — Here in compact form is the first postwar guidebook of Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific, with maps, remarkably comprehensive despite their small size, photographs, a factual appendix, a good index, enough glamor, but far more important, all sorts of essential information of the most practical kind.

GARDEN SOILS, THEIR USE AND CONSERVATION: By Arthur D. Beaumont. Illustrated. Orange Judd Publishing Co., $3.50. — Although written primarily for vegetable gardening, this book is also applicable to flower growing.

Fiction
BELOVED BONDAGE: By Elizabeth Yates. Coward - McCann, $2.75. — A poignant, perceptive story of a young husband's devotion to his mentally-afflicted wife. Books, a quietly understanding librarian and an elderly invalid play parts in restoring normalcy to the couple's life.

THE RESTLESS VOYAGE: By Stanley D. Porteus. Prentice - Hall, $2.75. — This is a kind of historical novel which incorporates the lustiness of the favored adventure stories of the sea. There are well-proportioned ingredients of action, atmosphere, characters and romance to satisfy the adventure-hungry. All in all, here is a tasty concoction.

THE WIND LEAVE NO SHADOW: By Ruth Laughlin. Whittlesey House, $3.50. — As a child, Tules had known the agonies of cold and hunger and Indian massacres. Then she married a handsome stranger who carried her away to an exciting but gold-cursed life in the mountains. Terror and death again came into her life. This time she fled to Santa Fe, where she became a vander in the marketplace. This was the Santa Fe of the 1830's, when Mexico's sway was ending; Santa Fe, where buffalo hunters, gringo traders, cab-

TOBY TYLER.

Youngsters of Marshall and vicinity this week get their second "break" of the current 1948-49 entertainment season.

This will be Wednesday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock at the City Hall auditorium.

On the stage will be the Clara Tree Major Children's Theater of New York production, "Toby Tyler—Or Ten Weeks With A Circus."

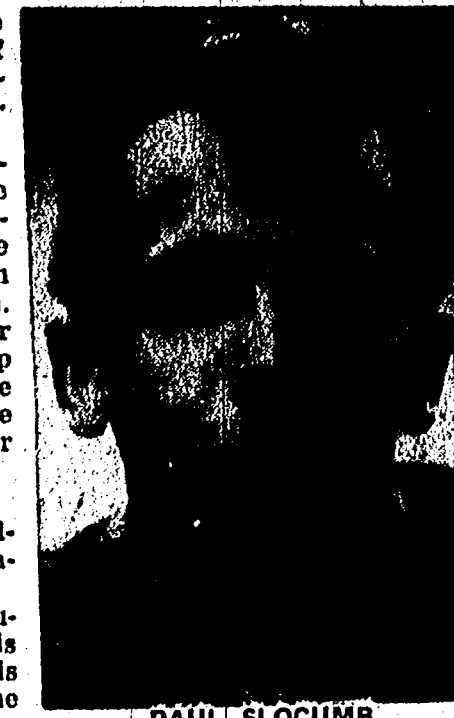

It is the second of three children's productions presented here this season for the tenth consecutive year under auspices of the Marshall Branch of the American Association of University Women.

Louisa May Alcott's popular "Little Women" brought the troupe here on Feb. 2 for the first of three productions. The third, "The Snow Queen," is scheduled for Thursday, April 21.

It will be a particularly auspicious presentation for several reasons. James Otis, author of the popular juvenile story on which it is based, was born 100 years ago this year—and the Major's effort is the centennial observance production.

In the title role as Toby Tyler himself will be Paul Slocumb, young Detroit actor who graduated from Miss Major's National Academy of the Theater at Pleasantville, N. Y., just a stone's throw from Broadway, last June, and has been rewarded for his excellent record at that famous school with this role.

Older readers may be interested in the fact that this promising young actor, in such leisure moments as the current tour allows, is busily completing a three-act play, "Be It Ever So Humble," which he plans to premier in July at his own theater in Virginia.

Like so many other stories which are popular with children, "Toby Tyler" has kept its place in the hearts of the youngsters for a century for the simple reason that it deals with something they love—the circus.

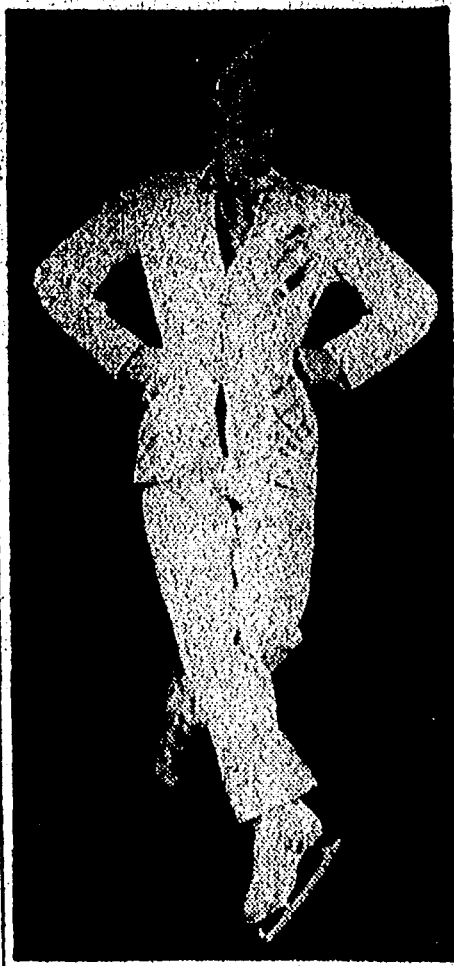

SECOND OF THREE CHILDREN'S PLAYS HERE WEDNESDAY

Otis' enduring tale will be unfolded on the stage through the doings of Lily, the jovial fat woman, her husband, Sam, the Thin Man, the hilarious clown, Bower and Towser, the fascinating little monkey, Mr. Stubbs, Ella, the dainty little bare-back rider, Job Lord, the ice cream and pink lemonade vendor, and a host of others that all children, young and old, will immediately recognize as something or someone they've seen themselves under the big top.

From a literary standpoint it is interesting that Miss Major has chosen "Toby Tyler" from among all the author's works for a centennial observance, because in the character of Toby Tyler and in his experiences in the story the author himself lives on to delight new generations of youngsters.

James Otis, born 100 years ago in Winterport, Maine, was about as reckless a lad as Toby Tyler himself, and, like his character, ran away from home at an early age, joined a circus, found it wasn't what he expected, turned to writing, and ultimately produced some 150 books. He rounded out a full life as superintendent of schools at Portland, Maine.

Miss Major's productions are well known for the techniques with which she develops color, dramatic intensity, struggle, accomplishment, and humor—all at a level designed to reach the juvenile audience with a simple and sincere appeal, often with a moral, but never as a sermon.

IN ICE SHOW—Bobby Blake (above), often billed as the "Fred Astaire of the Silver Blades," will be seen at Shreveport's Municipal Auditorium Tuesday, March 29, through Sunday, April 3, in the new edition of "Holiday on Ice of 1949."

Easter Music
HOLLYWOOD — With a thought to the changing season, MGM Records announces the release shortly of a four-record album taken from the MGM film, "Easter Parade," with Judy Garland, Fred Astaire, Peter Lawford and Ann Miller doing the vocals for the eight times.

Famed Art Sold for $10 At Auction
LONDON — Mrs. G. Beeton never approved of the painting her artist husband left her. It showed a nude woman stabbing herself. So she shipped it off to a village auction one day and sold it for 50 shillings ($10).
 The buyer — an antique dealer — traded the picture to a salesman for a $55 typewriter.
 The salesman showed it to an art expert.
 Yesterday the picture was sold to a dealer. It brought 3,200 pounds ($13,800).
 The painting was described as "The Suicide of Dido," by the 17th century Flemish master Peter Paul Rubens.
 Told of the sale, Mrs. Beeton commented: "It wasn't a picture anyone would want about the house."

Holy City Film Debut April 1
LAWTON, Okla. —The famed Holy City in the Wichita Mountains near here, scene of the annual Easter sunrise Passion pageant, which has drawn hundreds of thousands of visitors to this city over the years, will make its motion picture debut in three Lawton theaters April 1.
 Two downtown Lawton theaters and one at nearby Fort Sill, historic base of the U. S. Cavalry, have been selected for joint world premier showings of the $2,500,000 production entitled "The Lawton Story."
 Actual scenes from the Passion drama were filmed a year ago in color, and to excerpts from the long drama annually enacted by a cast of 3,000 have been added the story of Mark Wallock, the little minister who spent a lifetime developing this Southwestern version of the Oberammergau.

Heifetz Soloist
NEW YORK — Jascha Heifetz, noted violinist teamed with Emanuel Bay, pianist, in the recent RCA-Victor Red Seal recording of Beethoven's "Spring Sonata," will be soloist April 23 at a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria at which Pres. Truman and Pres. Chaim Weizmann of Israel will be honor guests.
 Leonard Bernstein will conduct the NBC Symphony in an hour and a half concert as part of the dinner program sponsored by the Weizmann Institute of Science. NBC will broadcast the complete program.

Two Texas Tunes
NEW YORK — Jack Kilty, "Curly" in the original "Oklahoma!" cast, has recorded for MGM Records two sides of a single disc with a "distinct Texas flavor." They are "The Streets of Laredo" from the forthcoming Paramount film of that name, and "I Got A Gal In Galveston." Release date is about March 25.

Notes: Music, Musicians, Records

While most of us were giving passing attention to Feb. 22 as the anniversary of the birth of George Washington, a few also noted that it was the 100th anniversary of the birth of Chopin.

The Kosciuszko Foundation of New York has set up a committee with Dr. Howard Hanson as chairman, and Deems Taylor, Artur Rodzinski, Douglas Moore, O. S. Dickinson and Dr. Edward Noble McCracken as members, to encourage centennial observances of the birth of the noted composer.

Record collectors will be interested in the RCA-Victor contribution of a special record package, "Everyman's Chopin," for which the purchaser has the option of any two records of that firm's Chopin catalogue. Latest addition to this list is Byron Janis, 20-year-old pianist who made his debut at Carnegie Hall last year and recently appeared with Leopold Stokowski and the New York Philharmonic, paying Chopin's Etude in E, Opus 10 No. 3, and Etude in G - Flat, Opus 10 No. 5 ("Black Keys").

Cole Porter's current Broadway musical hit, "Kiss Me, Kate," is showing up on more and more lists of forthcoming records, and some of its top tunes are headed for hit parade fame.

Columbia Records has begun a widespread buildup for its forthcoming standard and LP release of the score with the original Broadway cast.
 Alfred Drake, who sings in that set with the original cast but has an RCA - Victor contract too, does a separate album for the latter, singing two solo numbers with Lehman Engle and orchestra, and two with Jane Pickens and the Engle band. Two other sides are provided by Henri Rene and orchestra. MGM Records tips its hat to the Porter show with a single release introducing Jane Harvey, a promising graduate of the noted Benny Goodman school - of entertainment - experience, as soloist with orchestra conducted by Hugo Winterhalter.

Serious music fans, who regretted suspension of Music Digest (possibly a forerunner of the Detroit Symphony fust?), and popular music fans, who have followed the publication, "In The Groove," may find common ground for rejoicing in announcement of the debut, later this month, of the "RCA - Victor Record Review."

The 32-page magazine in color and "pocket" size will deal with popular and classic music and personalities. RCA-Victor releases will be carried as advertisements, and artists under contract to other disc firms will be included in editorial content.

Jane Pickens, mentioned among the "Kiss Me, Kate" recording artists already, is the 1949 "Queen of Hearts" for the American Heart Association campaign. Efforts of this association to invite attention to the high incidence of heart disease are underscored by Miss Pickens on her radio broadcasts (NBC, 4 p. m. Sundays) with the singing of "Open Your Heart," and she will make a number of personal appearances in behalf of the drive.

Tuesday two lucky people of the U. S. will hear that they have been selected to be the Italian government's guests for a visit to famed Lake Como. They will be the authors of the adjudged best entries submitted to some 206 U. S. disc jockeys in the "Why I Would Like To Visit Lake Como" 25-word-or-less contest sponsored by Perry Como in the interests of his first post - Petrillo-ban recording—yep, you guessed it, "Far Away Places."

Grand Jury Opposed To Petting

DECATUR, Ga., (U.P.) — The DeKalb County grand jury is glad it announced that school authorities are trying to stop "unwise and promiscuous bodily contact between the sexes" in the schools.

The grand jurors expressed themselves in presentments yesterday. They described what they were talking about as "so-called petting, boys and girls walking around in semi-embrace, holding hands, and such contact as tends to afford reactions leading to unwholesome thoughts of immorality."

They also commended the school authorities for a campaign to reduce teen-age smoking.

For Your Entertainment

An observation or so while hearing Eileen Farrell sing last Monday night. . . The piano showed fingerprint smears, needed a polishing badly. . . The brilliant personal appearance of the singer looked good against the handsome cyclorama added about 18 months ago to the stage equipment, but the rest of the stage equipment showing looked pretty shabby. . . A couple of acoustical tiles in the ceiling looked precariously loose.

Speaking of the concert. . . Marshall and vicinity people who heard the noted soprano may be interested to know that she and Charles Fredericks have been teamed with Al Goodman and his orchestra in a three-record RCA-Victor popular set, a memorial album of the waltzes of the late Franz Lehár. She is soloist in "Willis" from "The Merry Widow," and Mr. Fredericks, baritone, is soloist in "The White Dove" from "The Merry Widow." They join for duet renditions of "The Merry Widow Waltz" from "The Merry Widow," "Love Is A Pilgrim" from "Eva," "Say Not Love Is A Dream" and "Are You Going To Dance?" from "The Count of Luxembourg."

From our scanning of a number of record review columns and publications we note that a host are pretty definitely taking sides in the so-called "battle of the records"—some favoring the new Columbia LP disc, some the forthcoming RCA-Victor 45 rpm platter, and some standing by the present standard 78 rpm disc or favoring its improvement.

This writer, having heard a number of the LP releases against only one side of the new 45 rpm seven-inch disc, believes the people who enjoy recorded music will make

Man-Short Japan Shocked by Women Pursuing Husbands

TOKYO (U.P.) — Along with the new look, which some Japanese have adopted, many have adopted a new outlook on life.

Instead of the meek, mild little women who came at the male's beck and call, Japanese women today are growing aggressive.

In fact, this aggressiveness has a lot of males worried—particularly those of a marriageable age.

The war left Japan short of men. Husband hunting Japanese women have taken to pursuing men of their choice, whether they are married or not. Husband snatching is becoming common.

Eligible bachelors are reluctant to head for the altar. There are many reasons for this—the housing shortage, the high cost of living and the high cost of the marriage ceremony itself.

It costs 10,000 yen (about $29) for only a routine wedding.

CINDERELLA REVERSED—It is over the mother, instead of the daughter, that the godmother waves her wand in "Evening Dress Indispensable," one of three one-act plays to be presented at 8 o'clock Friday night at the Marshall High School auditorium by the MHS speech department, under the direction of Miss Julia Garrett. In the above scene from the third of the series of plays, left to right, are Gene Casey, Kathryn Reeves, Paul Pepper, Carolyn Latham, and Joann Davis.

MHS Speech Students Offer One-Act Plays

Youthful thespians of Marshall High School's speech department, under the direction of Miss Julia Garrett, will display their talents for the stage in three one-act plays at the high school auditorium Friday night at 8 o'clock.

Admission will be 50 cents for adults, and 25 cents for students.

A feature of the dramatic presentations will be the use for the first time of a new interior stage set purchased for the high school auditorium last spring.

The cast, stage hands, make-up and costumes for the three productions are all drawn from students of Miss Garrett in the high school speech department.

To be presented are Arthur Hopkins' "Moonshine," Glen Hughes' "A Fantasy-Blue Sea and Red Rose," and Roland Pertwell's modern comedy, "Evening Dress Indispensable."

Miss Garrett announced the casts as follows:

"Moonshine" — Mr. Revenue, Beverly Bass; Luke Hazy, Lamar Ford.

"A Fantasy-Blue Sea and Red Rose" — Columbia, Barbara Brown; Pierrot, Pat Davis; Pantaloon, William Pyle; Harlequin, Danny Brantley.

"Evening Dress Indispensable" — Mrs. Waybury, Kathryn Reeves; Sheila Waybury, Jo Ann Davis; Geoffrey Chandler, Gene Casey; George Connaught, Paul Pepper; Nelly, the maid, Carolyn Latham.

Senior high school students will get a preview of the productions during their assembly program.

LOCAL SCREENS

All-Male Cast Arrives With 'Command Decision'

"Command Decision," MGM's screen version of the William Wister Haines stage success, arrives at the Paramount Theater today to begin a three-day run. It is probably one of the most widely discussed films to come out of Hollywood in recent years.

Starring Clark Gable, Walter Pidgeon, Van Johnson, Brian Donlevy, Charles Bickford, John Hodiak and Edward Arnold, its all male cast is impressively star-studded.

The script deals with the conflict between two air force generals and their execution of an American bombing mission, Operation Stitch, the success of which might shorten the length of the war.

Sonja Henie returns to a local screen, Wednesday and Thursday, when the Paramount brings in "The Countess of Monte Cristo."

Referred to by advance notices as "a romantic adventure spectacle," it is no doubt largely devoted to the unquestioned skating talents of its blonde star.

Assisting Miss Henie in the Universal-International Picture are Olga San Juan, Dorothy Hart, Michael Kirby and Arthur Treacher.

The Lynn will play "Miraculous Journey," the cinecolor film starring Rory Calhoun, Sunday and Monday.

Scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday is a double feature, "The Red Shoes" with William Eythe, and "The Snake Pit" with Olivia De Havilland and a stark view of an insane asylum. But such an advance in film material doesn't necessarily mean it's a prize picture.

"The Treasure of the Sierra Madre" is an inspired work of Writer-Director John Huston. With rare insight, he shows the effect of gold lust on the minds of men.

"Treasure" is my choice. But who can fathom the vagaries of the academy?

HOLLYWOOD REPORTS

Thomas Picks 'Treasure' As Year's Best Movie

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (U.P.) — With the Academy Awards less than three weeks away, Hollywood's annual pollicking bursts into full swing.

Press agents to the left of me, press agents to the right of me, all volleys and thundering for their pet contenders. Amidst all the sound and fury, let's hop into a shell hole for calm consideration of the five films up for the top award.

"Hamlet" is a superlative job. Only an English cast could present Shakespeare so ably. But it is, still Shakespeare.

"Johnny Belinda" is a fine melodrama. Carried by the tender performance of Jane Wyman and Lew Ayres, it remains believable and moving throughout. But it is still melodrama and not a great movie.

Kreisler Books To Be Auctioned

NEW YORK — Fritz Kreisler's collection of rare and early books and manuscripts have been donated to Lenox Hill Hospital and the Golden Rule Foundation to be auctioned for needed proceeds.

"That which made possible the acquisition of such books came from the people," the popular violinist said, "therefore, having served their purpose, what they accrue must go back to the people."

Beethoven Cycle
SAN FRANCISCO — Climaxing the San Francisco Symphony's 37th season, Pierre Monteux will conduct an 11-performance Beethoven Cycle April 4-24. Beethoven's nine symphonies and a five piano concert are programmed, with Dame Myra Hess booked for the third concerto in C minor.

Jaycee Drive To Open Monday

Anybody wearing a large, yellow card dangling from his lapel beginning Monday will be a Jaycee. He also will be willing to accept the annual $8 membership fee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The organization's yearly membership drive will be launched in this fashion, with each present member accepting new and renewed memberships.

Workers later will canvass zones of the business district under the direction of Leland Pitts, membership drive chairman, and George Prendergast, Jr., vice president in charge.

Max S. Lale, president, said each member is being supplied with the yellow cards and a supply of membership blanks over the week end, to reach his desk by the morning mail delivery tomorrow.

The annual membership drive will be climaxed by the installation banquet March 10, at which the new officers will be installed and the Blalock trophy for community service will be awarded.

Robert Lea, chairman of the ticket committee for the dinner, said wives and dates of new Jaycee members will be special guests of the club at the dinner. Present members will be expected to pay for the guests' tickets, however.

Texas City Wins AA Title

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas City rolled to a 30-23 Saturday night victory over Brownwood in the Texas schoolboy Class AA basketball championship.

Taking the lead with a minute to go, the Slingarees successfully stalled the rest of the way and earned their first state title in history.

A crowd of 7,000 roared at the dramatic finish that saw the Slingarees wage a great battle from behind and cash in on garri- son finish spearheaded by Jack Mosher, Bill Chouke and L. G. Dupre.

Except for a brief period at the start of the game when Texas City ran up three points to none for Brownwood, and a short interlude early in the third period when they snatched the lead by a single point, it was an uphill battle for the fighting Slingarees.

Going into the fourth quarter of the tight defensive game, Texas City was behind 19-18. The brilliant Roland Ellidge slipped in a field goal to make it 21-18. John Welch got a free throw for Texas City but Cecil Elkins rammed the basket for a two pointer and again

Texas City was three points down. Chouke broke through for a field goal, but Lee Wise sank a field goal and a free throw and Brownwood was four points to the good. The gig clock showed just three minutes to go. Welch sprinted down for a field goal, but Wise returned the compliment. Then the bottom fell out for Brownwood. Mosher, Chouke and Dupre each hit the basket for a field goal to make the count 29-23.

Texas City started a neat bit of stalling. Finally Brownwood got the ball out of bounds, but Mosher stole it away and when fouled sank a free throw with only 10 seconds left. Texas City had the ball at the finish.

Saturday, night, Lubbock and Port Arthur played for third place in the tournament with Lubbock winning, 47-33. Lubbock led all the way except for two brief intervals. At one time, in the latter part of the second period, Port Arthur also gained a short-lived one point margin.

The first period ended with Lubbock ahead 12-10 and at the half the Westerners held a 23-16 bulge. At the end of the third quarter they were ahead 33-28.

Charles Galey of Lubbock was the game's high point man with 17.

Walt Ashley led the Slingaree offensive with 11 points.

During the morning Brownwood and Texas City advanced to the Class AA finals with victories over Lubbock and Port Arthur respectively. Brownwood's win was a distinct upset because Lubbock had been a heavy favorite to win the title. The Lions beat the Westerners 46-32 as Roland Ellidge flipped in 16 points. Texas City strapped Port Arthur 49-31 behind the goal-tossing of Bill Chouke, who made 17 points.

Baylor Against Court Playoff

AUSTIN (AP) — Baylor University may turn down an invitation to compete in a playoff to determine the District 6 representative in the NCAA Western Region Basketball Tournament.

Coach Bill Henderson said here Saturday he opposes such a playoff, and doesn't care "whether we play or not, but it will be up to the boys."

Baylor, Rice Institute, the University of Arkansas and the University of Arizona were invited Saturday to compete in the playoff in Dallas next Wednesday and Thursday.

Baylor, Rice and Arkansas finished in a triple tie for the Southwest Conference title. Arizona is champion of the Border Conference. Rice, Arkansas and Arizona already have accepted the invitation to the playoff.

Henderson said he would put the question up to his team Monday. All are away from the Waco school now after mid-term examinations. Henderson is attending the state high school basketball tournament here.

"The Southwest Conference voted last winter not to have a playoff for the championship in the event of a tie," Henderson said. "They say this playoff is not for the championship, but everybody will look on it that way. I think a team should have been selected to represent the NCAA district instead of a playoff."

James H. Stewart, acting chairman of the district selection committee said invitations were sent the four teams Saturday morning. Stewart said then that he wanted to emphasize that the playoff would not affect the Southwest Conference championship. Other members of the committee are Jack Gray, University of Texas, basketball coach, and Morley Jennings, director of athletics at Texas Tech.

Coach Gene Lambert of Arkansas is chairman of the committee but he did not take part in the selections because his team was involved.

In Houston, Athletic Director Jess Neely of Rice said, "The four team tournament seems to be the district representative."

When Stewart announced that a playoff would be held, he said pairings would be made by drawing after all teams had accepted.

Pro-Amateur Opening Round At Longview

Bob Rosborough, Jimmy White, and J. B. Hardin will go to Longview Monday where they will participate in the season's opening play of the East Texas Pro-Amateur Golf Association at Pine Creek Country Club.

Play will be held weekly at sixteen different country clubs on a rotation basis this year. Marshall will play host to the association May 16 and September 19.

In the low ball competition, each professional heads a team of amateurs, and squad membership is determined by draw.

Ladies days will be held at various times through the schedule for the first time this year. On those dates, professionals will play with the lady amateurs in morning rounds.

BILLY NUTT

Gist Breaks Leg, Nutt Hurts Ankle

Bad luck struck the Maverick baseball training sessions this week end when outfielder James Gist broke his left leg and catcher Billy Nutt sprained an ankle in practice slides into second base.

Coach Charlie Flowers said he had been drilling the squad in base-sliding at the sawdust sliding pit, and the accidents occurred when part of the team members decided to try their newly-acquired skill on the playing-field base paths.

Gist, an outstanding Maverick football player, broke the opposite leg on the gridiron last year. The new break is in the small bone of the leg just above the ankle, Coach Flowers said.

Nutt was getting around fairly well on his injured ankle Saturday night and is expected to be back on the field for limited work Monday.

Following the accidents, the balance of the squad returned to the diamond for full - scale drill sessions.

Hollis Morton and Jack Gray shared honors in a five - inning practice game Friday afternoon playing on opposing sides. Morton limited the second team to one hit for the five frames, and Gray sent a line-drive triple into left field to spoil a possible no-hitter for the first string twirler.

Gray's lone hit for the second squad went in vain as he died on base to give the top nine a 10-0 victory.

Saturday morning the emphasis was on batting as every member of the squad took several turns at the plate.

A AND B CHAMPS

Memphis And Martin's Mill Annex Titles

AUSTIN (AP) — The Memphis Cyclones from the top of Texas won the Class A championship of the Texas Schoolboy Basketball Tournament Saturday, beating French of Beaumont 27-25.

The Panhandle team fought off a great French rally in the last minute to capture the title. Memphis never was behind although the score was once tied and entered the last 30 seconds leading by a one-point margin.

Little Martin's Mill from deep East Texas (population 200) won the Class B schoolboy basketball championship, beating Big Sandy 39-33.

Big O'Neal Weaver, by scoring 23 points for the winners, cracked the Class B individual scoring record for the tournament with 61. The old record was 49, set by Ken Pemberton of Stratford in 1946.

Weaver scored 1,088 points in 43 games for the season counting what he did here. Every Southwest Conference school has contacted him except Rice and he also has an invitation from Notre Dame.

Martin's Mill took the lead early in the game and stayed out in front to the finish, matching every offensive thrust of the fighting Big Martin's Mill used only six boys throughout the tournament. In two games the starters played all the way. In the final game a substitute got in for 45 seconds. That was only because one of the regulars fouled out.

McMurry Attends Waskom Squads Honored At Dinner Here Friday

SMU Grid Clinic

Mav Football Coach Swede McMurry attended the Southern Methodist football coaches clinic in Dallas Friday and Saturday where Matty Bell and Rusty Russell of SMU and Bud Wilkinson, University of Oklahoma, led discussions on the single wingback and T formations.

Friday night the approximately 100 visiting coaches were guests of the SMU athletic department at a dinner, and the two-day school was concluded with an intrasquad game of the Mustangs Saturday afternoon.

The clinic was keynoted by the theme that brains are replacing brawn on the football field. "A coach must teach football to his boys," Russell said, "not just give them assignments on each play."

In discussing the single wingback formation, Bell placed emphasis on the importance of a good passing attack.

"It is impossible to break up a good passing attack," he said. "The problem of pass defense is driving the coaches crazy."

Wilkinson gave new pointers on the split T which is finding new supporters rapidly.

"We split the line men to an unusual degree on offense to split the opponent's defense. If the defense doesn't split with us, we still have a good blocking angle at them," he said.

Man - made Lake Roosevelt in central Washington is 150 miles long.

Members of the Waskom High School athletic squads were honored at a chicken dinner at Maverick Steak House in Marshall Friday night.

Pearson P. Pollard of Waskom was the principal speaker, and A. V. Jordan, superintendent of the Waskom public schools, who was master of ceremonies, presented the football team with a large trophy in recognition of their bi-district championship.

Mr. Pollard spoke on Waskom athletic highlights of 1949 paying tribute to the six - man football team and to the boys and girls basketball teams.

In reviewing the successful football season in which the Wildcats gave Waskom its first undefeated and untied team, Mr. Pollard pointed out that sportsmanship is equally important to a good won-loss record.

"Games won by unfair means are better lost," he said.

Particular tribute was paid to Coach R. F. Newman for his fine work in this first year at Waskom.

The Wildcats won ten games while losing none, scored two or more touchdowns in every game, and made 331 plays to their opponents' 93 last season.

The program opened with music by Miss Janice Rogers and a song led by Miss Helen Whitmer, girls basketball coach.

Coaches Newman and Whitmer then introduced members of their squads. Robert Edmonds was presented a silver football by Coach Newman, and Gloria Peak and Linda Nicholson were presented silver basketballs by Coach Whitmer for outstanding sportsmanship and effort.

TROPHY PRESENTED Following Mr. Pollard's speech, Mr. Jordan surprised the players with the presentation of the bi-district trophy.

Miss Maggie Jo Rudd, girls basketball captain, presented Coach Whitmer a silver basketball on behalf of team members, and Football Captain Garvin Pittman presented Coach Newman a gold football from the football squad.

The entire athletic group honored Mr. Pollard with a pen and pencil set for his encouragement to the teams throughout the season.

Others present at the banquet included Mrs. A. V. Jordan, Mrs. R. F. Newman, and Townsend Miller. Waskom's honored were John Allen Gryder, basketball captain, Maggie Jo Rudd, girls basketball captain, Garvin Pittman, football captain, Linda Nicholson, Billie Sue Philpot, Joe Bob Tucker, Elizabeth Pittman, Robert Edmonds, Barbara Marshall, Gloria Peak, Marie Gray.

Paul Hinson, Janice Rogers, LeRoy Poteet, Jo Mable Hendrick, James Murray, Lela Faye Crow, Graydon Burton, Marie Johnson, Gene Blison, Dora Dean Crisp, Jackie Holmes, Mary Kathryn Day.

Mav Trackmen Run Off Fifth, Sixth Events

Johnny Sharp won the 220-yard dash and dead-heated with George Cook in the 440-yard run as the fifth and sixth events of the intra-squad decathlon were concluded Friday at the Marshall High oval.

The versatile trackman established himself as one of the most promising prospects on Coach Swede McMurry's roster. He is the first of the Mav thinly-clad to grab a share in two first places. His time for the 220 was 27.1 and he and Cook clicked off the 440 in 60.0.

Bill Craig took second in the 220 with a time of 27.6 followed by Don Linville's 27.8.

Sonny Wynn was third in the 440. His time was 61.5.

Of the six events concluded in the ten-event competition, Kenneth Hudson has placed in three of them. He finished second in the half-mile, third in the 110-yard low hurdles, and tied for first in the mile run.

Bill Craig also has placed in three events. He captured the 110-yard low hurdles, finished second in the 220-yard dash, and third in the 100-yard dash.

Other first-place winners are Bill Gray in the half-mile, Homer Eubanks in the mile, and Tom Farnham in the 100-yard dash.

Three Tied For Southwest Crown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Three teams reign as Southwest Conference basketball champions. They are Baylor, Rice and Arkansas.

The three-way tie occurred Friday night when Rice defeated Texas A. & M., 53-39, at College Station. It was the last scheduled conference game.

The circuit will have tri-champions. No play-off will be held for the crown.

Behind the three champions in order to finish, were Texas, Southern Methodist, A. & M. and Texas Christian.

Each of the tri-champions won nine games and lost three in conference play.

The Second Guess

By TOWNSEND MILLER

When the Oklahoma City Indians arrive in Marshall for spring training Wednesday and Thursday they will be led by a man who is an accustomed to being a V-2 rocket. Joe Vosmik, the Indians' new manager, this season, rose as a player from the minor leagues to an American League star in less than two years of pro ball, and in his fifth year in the major league within one percentage point of leading the league in hitting.

After being forced into retirement for two years by a delicate condition, he began a second career as manager with the Cleveland Indians' Class C Tuscon club in 1947. In 1948, he was jumped two notches by the Cleveland organization to the management of their Class A Dayton team, and this winter he was appointed to head Oklahoma City in the AA Texas League.

The big 38-year-old Bohemian began his whitening playing career with Frederick in the Class D Blue Ridge loop under a Cleveland contract in 1929. He batted .361 and the next year was jumped to Class B ball at Terre Haute in the Three-I League where he clouted out a terrific .397 average. Cleveland called him to the American League for their last nine games that year, and in his first full major-league year in 1931 he compiled a .320 batting average while knocking in 117 runs.

His .346 record in 1935 was just one percentage point behind league-leader Buddy Meyer's .349.

Cleveland traded him to the Browns in 1937 and he clouted out a .325 record there.

Vosmik went to Boston with the Red Sox in 1938 and hit .324 but he slipped to .276 the next year and was traded to Brooklyn. From there he went to Louisville and Minneapolis and in 1944 played his last 14 games in the majors with Washington in 1944.

After two years of retirement he began his second ascent to success this time as a manager. His Tuscon club finished fifth in his first year, but the Cleveland management liked his work well enough to move him up to Dayton.

He proved they made no mistake by leading his team to second place in the league standings, and in the playoffs Dayton won the loop championship.

Now in his third year as a manager, the 6-foot, 185-pound Vosmik will have the tremendous job of re-building an Oklahoma City club which finished last in the Texas League in 1948 and 1947 and was able to move up only two notches to sixth last year.

Bill Veek and Rutie Schaffer of the Cleveland Indians formed a partnership with Oklahoma City President Jimmy Humphries to buy the Texas League club this winter. They have indicated there will be a thorough housecleaning if necessary to give the Sooner city a winning club.

Side Lines

Gahlen Dinkle is in Austin this week end giving the Texas U campus and football set-up the once-over. And Bill Jennings, University of Oklahoma coach who was in Marshall last week while Gahlen was visiting SMU, has invited the Mavs all-state back to OU next week end. The first of the Oklahoma City players drifted into Marshall unannounced Thursday. He is Ray Coss, young outfielder from Joplin, Mo., who quietly drifted in for a few days of conditioning prior to the official start of training Thursday. College basketball coaches and scouts are reportedly trailing O Neal Weaver, Martins Mill basketball star, all over the state. They converged on him in Kilgore at the Region 4-B tournament last week end where he made 100 points in four playoff games and now 'his said they have been trying to corner him at the state tournament in Austin. He has been called by at least one observer the greatest high school player seen on Texas Courts.

Rice and Pitt Sign Two-Game Grid Series

HOUSTON (U) — Athletic Director Jess Neely of Rice Institute has announced signing of a home-and-home football agreement with the University of Pittsburgh. Neely said the Houston school will play in Pittsburgh on October 14, 1950, with Pittsburgh playing here November 3, 1951.

TO SAN ANTONIO

Browns Boss To Help Padres Squad Train

Walter (Babe) DeFreitas, Marshall Browns playing manager, will leave early Monday for San Antonio where he will assist in the Padres' spring training program.

Like the Marshall club, San Antonio is a St. Louis Browns farm club, and DeFreitas expects to get a good look at several players who will probably play with Marshall this season.

DeFreitas said he was particularly interested in working with two or three pitchers who are slated for assignment to the local club. They are being sent to San Antonio to enable them to begin workouts earlier than the March 27 date set for the Browns' minor league club spring training at Pine Bluff.

From San Antonio, DeFreitas will go to Pine Bluff for a managers' school beginning March 20. He will remain there for the spring training session beginning a week later.

Chorley, Haddock, 2 Others on Browns Roster

The names of four Marshall Browns baseball prospects for 1949 were disclosed Saturday by Willard Coker, club president. In the season's initial announcement of who fans may expect to see at the local park this year.

Henry Savage, 20-year-old hard-hitting outfielder, will be sent here under option by Baltimore of the Class AAA International League, and Clarence Schamborn, 23-year-old first baseman, has been tentatively assigned to Marshall by the parent St. Louis Browns organization.

Robert Haddock, an infielder, born reports. The young left-hander played under DeFreitas' management in 1947 at Belleville, Ill., and last year at Hannibal, Mo. "He is a classy ball player and baseball-wise," DeFreitas said. "I am certainly glad to have that boy again."

Schamborn hit .287 in 1947 and around .275 last year. Outfielder Savage, a right-hander, played with Griffin, Ga., last year. DeFreitas said he hits well and is exceptionally fast. "He lacks experience, but Baltimore believes in him and is gradually stepping him up," he added. Baltimore is the top farm club of the St. Louis Browns organization.

Haddock and Chorley are both familiar to local fans. Chorley joined the Marshall club in July and won eight games while losing eight through the balance of the season.

Haddock started the season with Marshall but was injured in May and did not play again last year. Savage, Haddock and Chorley are limited service men and Schamborn is a class man.

Clint Hartung Too Valuable With Rival Clubs; Giants Hope He'll Take Regular Turn on Mound

PHOENIX (U) — Perhaps the unhappiest thing that baseball law has done to a young player since the war concerns the case of Clint Hartung of the New York Giants.

It was impossible under the rules for the Giants to farm out this great, if over-publicized, prospect from Hondo, Texas, and so after two years in the big leagues he remains just what he was in the beginning — six feet, four inches of bewildered athlete.

He is too fine a prospect for the other clubs to pass up if the Giants thought to waive him into the minor leagues so he could gain the experience he needs. It is known that the Phillies, for one, would grab him in a minute and convert him into a first-baseman.

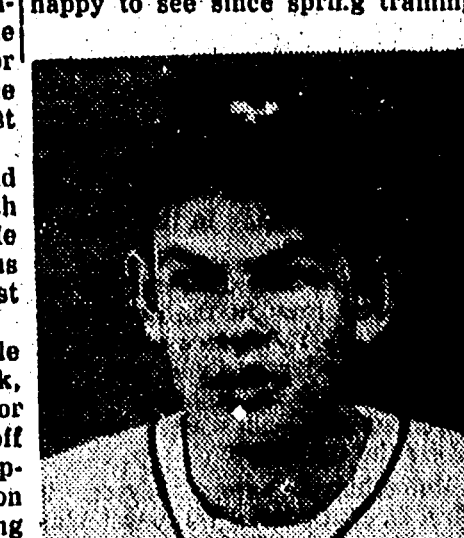

The Giants have a large and valuable first-baseman in Johnny

Mize. Hartung proved to everyone's satisfaction, including his own, that he is not a major league outfielder. So, perforce, he has had to try to become a major league pitcher, and the experience did injury to Hartung's nerves last season.

He still possesses great speed, and when he has control to go with it he is a tough man to beat. He has had both on sufficient occasions to compile a 17-15 won and lost record in two years.

But when his speed is a trifle off the batmen pin his ears back, because he has no curve or change-of-pace to keep them off balance. His hitting, which helped him become the Paul Bunyon of service ball in Hawaii during the war, has fallen off since he quit taking batting practice.

Giants officials, including Manager Leo Durocher, have been happy to see since spring training began that Hartung has not given up on himself. He appears to be more calm and self-possessed than he was before.

113 Named For Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (U) — Churchill Downs announced Saturday 113 nominations for the Kentucky Derby's diamond jubilee running May 7.

The list includes most of last year's leading two-year-olds and is headed by J. M. Rosling's Blue Peter, the 1948 juvenile champion. There are four more potential derby winners than last year, when 109 nominations were filed.

The Derby, America's oldest continuous turf event, is open to three-year-old colts, fillies and geldings. It is run at one mile and a quarter.

Col. Matt J. Winn, 87-year-old head of Churchill Downs, said he expects the greatest derby of them all this time. And he has seen every one of previous 74 runnings of the colorful event.

TEXARKANA — Clarence Longley, the young hurler who won 16 and dropped eight last season with Gloversville, N. Y., wired his acceptance of his 1949 contract yesterday and will join the Texarkana Bear baseball club when spring training begins March 15.

Phils May Move Ashburn From Outfield to First

NEW YORK (U) — The primary purpose of baseball spring training camps is to get the veterans in shape and look over the rookies but they also provide the managers with an opportunity to try out some pet ideas.

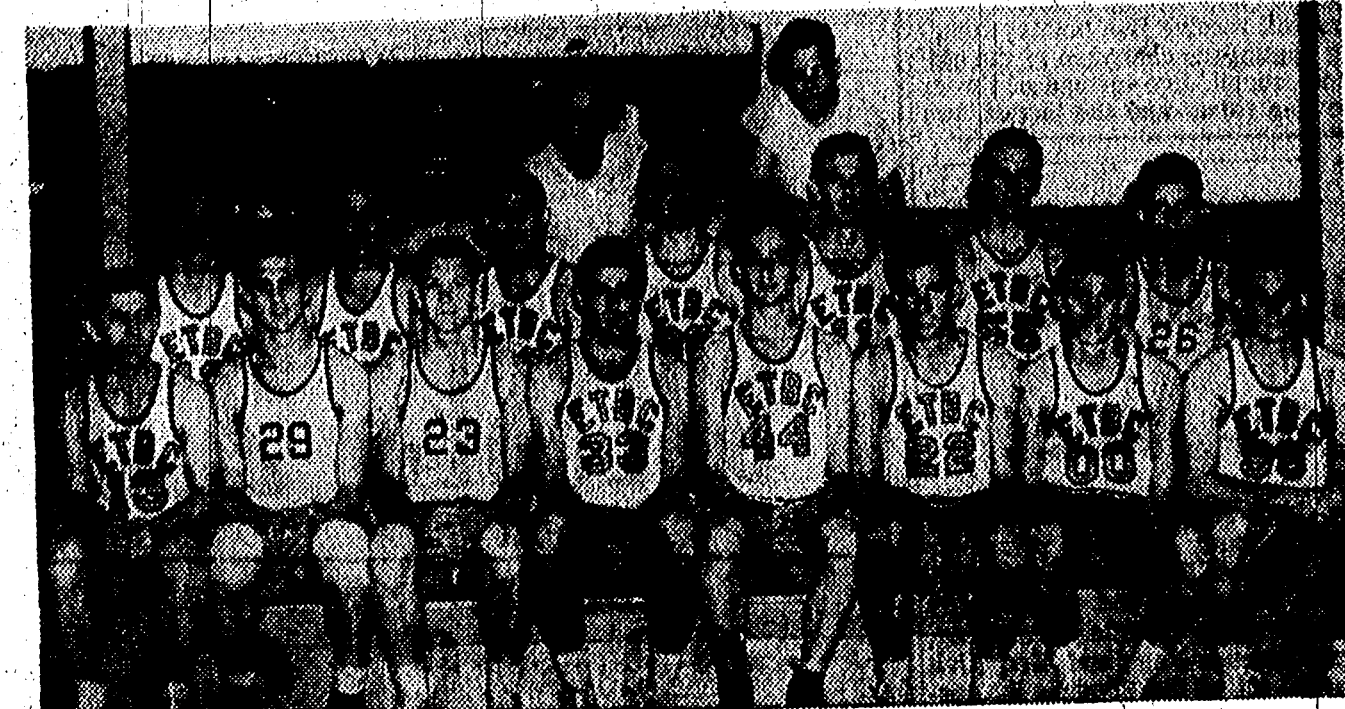

Shifting of outfielders to the infield, infielders to the outfield, and common during the conditioning season.

Eddie Sawyer, Philadelphia Phil Pilot, is currently toying with a move that would shift fleet footed Outfielder Richie Ashburn to Second base.

Jackie Robinson and Pee Wee Reese, two of Brooklyn's top base stealers, are learning how to slide correctly. Seems that Robinson comes into the bar too high and also can't slide on his left side. Reese, who swiped 25 bases out of 27 tries last year, also has trouble sliding on his left side. Bill Dickey one of the game's greatest catchers, is showing the finer points of the trade to New York Yankee Yogi Berra. Dickey has Berra crouching closer to the batter in order to get his throws to second off quicker. Rightfielder Willard Marshall is making the railbirds sit up in the New York Giant camp with lusty over-the-wall clouts. Marshall sent half a dozen over the 380 foot right field wall Friday. Bill Rigney hit the longest one, a 380-foot clout over left center.

Holdout pitcher Schoolboy Rowe arrived at the Phils camp and scheduled a meeting with owner Bob Carpenter. Rowe reportedly is asking for $15,000, a three grand hike over last year's salary. First baseman Fain of the Philadelphia Athletics reported that his right knee never felt better. Last year Fain underwent an operation in California and missed the Southern drills. Tigers Quint Was Club That Worked Together

By TOWNSEND MILLER

The East Texas Baptist Tigers were beaten by East Texas State in the first round of the NAIB eliminations, but the important thing in the minds of Marshall sports fans is that they got there. In only their second year of organized sports, and after losing eight of their first 12 games this year, the Tigers got into the big time.

The Bengals had been trounced by Texas Wesleyan 81-57, kicked around by Southeastern Oklahoma 65-42, and edged by weak Louisiana College 61-50 up to the middle of January.

BEST SAM HOUSTON Then talk of defeats changed overnight to hopes of victory, and suddenly the Tigers had beaten strong Sam Houston 66-60.

That was the "go" signal. Texas Wesleyan came up on the schedule again, but it was a different story this time as the Tigers won 67-65.

The defeat by Southeastern Oklahoma was avenged 54-51, and Louisiana College was mothered in a return game 73 to 42.

The Baptists breezed through the rest of the season with two easy wins over Barksdale Field and two more over Daniel Baker, and sat back to see if anyone had noticed their amazing improvement.

3 DAYS WAITING All ETBC and Marshall waited and hoped for three days, and then on Tuesday, Coach Stephens received word that the Tigers had been selected to play in the NAIB eliminations as the top independent college team in Texas.

It would be hard to assign credit for the Tigers' greatness to any one factor without doing injustice to others.

The coach? The boys would be the first to tell you Coach Stephens is a great tactician and teacher, and most of all, the kind of guy you'd fight for 'til you dropped.

Of course he played a mighty big part, but someone had to score the goals.

FISHER BIG WHEEL Maybe Don Fisher was the big wheel. The court-wise veteran was invaluable for his minute-to-minute strategy, his steady influence on the entire team in times of stress, and his 18 point game-averages.

But what about Harold Carlisle's unflinching defense work against opponents' top scorers in game after game?

Or Doug Simmons' high scoring and beautiful taking that kept opposing guards continually off balance?

Then there was Bill Weaver who always managed to be everywhere. Jack Holly with his dangerous long shot, and the hustling worry-warts, John Jones, Walter Sisk, and all the rest.

Nothing more appropriate can be said than that the 1949 Tiger team was the one-in-a-thousand combination that worked well together, played well together, and won the heart of every fan together.

RAIDERS TRIP Lions to Grab NAIB Play Bid

DALLAS (U) — Texas Tech whipped East Texas State, 68-48, here Saturday night to win its way into the NAIB basketball tournament opening Monday at Kansas City.

The Red Raiders were taller than East Texas State, made fewer mistakes, and hit more baskets.

Texas Tech held a 20-22 advantage at the half and five minutes after the game opened had run up a 12-0 lead.

More Countries May Soon Join Pact Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several more countries may soon join the North Atlantic Alliance talks despite growing Russian attacks on the security project.

Diplomatic officials foresee swift action in that direction with Norway officially lined up alongside the western powers.

Ambassador Wilhelm Munthe de Morgenstjerne took his place in the negotiations at the State Department Friday about the same time that his government in Oslo firmly turned down Russia's month-old offer of a non-aggression treaty.

Norway brought the total of negotiators to eight. The others are the United States, Canada, Britain, France, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

Several other states are considered eligible for membership in the projected security alliance.

Denmark's foreign minister will leave for Washington to investigate the treaty possibilities next Tuesday. While Italy's relationship with the treaty powers is in doubt she may still come in as an original signer. Iceland and Portugal both know they would be welcomed but have not yet received official invitations.

The treaty, binding North America and western Europe into an inter-continental security system, is expected to be completed by the end of next week and signed by the end of the month—probably in Washington, according to responsible authorities.

Marshall High Honor Point System Revised

Certain modifications have been made in the honor point system, according to an announcement by Olga Miller, chairman of the honor point committee. The new regulations open several new fields for honor awards in order to make it possible for students who render extra-curricular services to the school to receive their due credit.

Other than the addition of honor points for school services, an entirely new system of tabulating the points has been devised.

Golf team members will receive two to four points in accordance with the new ruling. Selected twirlers will receive five points; standing committee chairmen of the student council, five instead of three; the flag raiser and the bugler, two

Texas Doctors Watch Patient Sip Invisible Radioactive Isotopes

GALVESTON (AP)—Three doctors stood watching as a patient at the University of Texas School of Medicine sipped invisible radioactive isotopes.

The patient was being treated for a thyroid disorder at the medical school's post-graduate course in physical medicine and rehabilitation.

Officials of the school said it was the first time the treatment has been used here.

The three scientists treating the patient stood well away from the test tube filled with the isotopes.

Dr. Benjamin Weil, director of research at the M. D. Anderson Hospital for Cancer Research at Houston, held the tube with a two-foot prong as the patient sipped the medicine.

Dr. Charles L. Spurr and Dr. W. J. Wingo, both of the Anderson Hospital staff, stood several feet away. Spurr explained that the isotopes throw off radiation that endangers all tissues except in the infected area.

The dose was given to determine the efficiency of the material as a treatment. One hour after the isotopes were administered, the doctors examined the patient to check the path of the tracers.

Spurr said scientists began work on radioactive isotopes in 1939, with only a few approved medical centers in the United States administering the treatment.

New Bus Fleet Here on Display

Continental Trailways, Inc., will display its fleet of nine "Silverliners" valued at $360,000 here for half an hour this afternoon, Ray Musser, local agent, said Saturday.

The fleet of nine stainless steel streamliners valued at approximately $40,000 each, en route from Philadelphia to Dallas, where they are to be placed in operation, will be on display on the courthouse square from 2:30 to 3 o'clock this afternoon, Mr. Musser said.

When the fleet goes into operation at Dallas shortly, he said, the Trailways Thru "Silverliners" will offer the first through-trip service of its type in motorbus transportation history.

This new through-service will be available from Dallas through Marshall to Shreveport, Meridian, Columbus, Macon, Augusta and Raleigh.

A feature of the service is that it will require no transfers en route, no re-checking of baggage, and no layovers, each schedule being operated through from the announced point of origin to destination.

Legion Director Claims Troublesome Majority

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Legion has a "majority" in Congress, but it's a troublesome one, Legion Legislative Director John Thomas Taylor said today.

Taylor told the Legion Rehabilitation Commission that 222 of the 435 representatives and 48 of the 96 senators are Legion members—"plus two Spanish-American war veterans who in effect make it 50 in the Senate."

But, he added sadly: "Some of these men are not as influential nor as interested in the Legion program for the veterans as are the non-veterans."

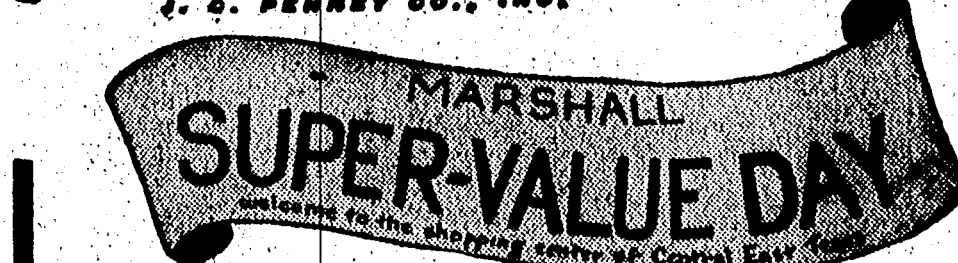

"We have the greatest difficulty with some of them."

Two Honored At Camp Fire Meet

Two Marshallites drew further recognition Saturday at Dallas for their work in behalf of the Camp Fire Girls and their program.

They were Mrs. Richard Blalock, who is national vice-president of the organization, and Miss Lou Dell Liston, director of Camp Fire activities here.

Mrs. Blalock was re-elected to one of two vice-chairmanships for the region, and Miss Liston was elected chairman of the region's professional Camp Fire executives.

The election came at a business session which brought to a close a two-day session of Camp Fire representatives and officers of Region Four, which comprises five states, Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

Seven Marshallites were in attendance: Mrs. Blalock, Miss Liston, Mrs. Jack Cowley, Mrs. Frank Rule, Mrs. Al Muller, Miss Norma Forsyth, and J. P. Duncan.

Mrs. Blalock, as national vice-president, at a dinner meeting Friday night introduced Miss Martha Allen, national Camp Fire director, who will speak to Marshall Camp Fire workers, members and their parents, at a dinner at the Hotel Marshall Thursday night.

B. Felix Harris of Dallas was re-elected regional chairman. Haskell Porter of Beaumont was elected to the other vice-chairmanship. Mrs. George S. Adams of Fort Worth was named secretary, and Fred Florence of Dallas, finance chairman.

Buttons 'Musts' For Spring Trim

This season, buttons play a primary part in the ultimate drama of a design and often inspire the silhouette of the costume they adorn.

Noted fashion creator, Nettie Rosenstein, for example, emphasizes the detail of a sheer woolen frock with bound buttonholes and skimmer-slim buttons.

Designer, Esther Dorothy favors buttons for furs. She likes burnished, bronzed buttons for Nutria and gleaming silver or gold ones for Hudson Seal and Persina. Lamb On-tailored suits. Handmacher likes to use polished Ocean Pearl buttons; while Jane Derby, utilizes sparkling rhinestone buttons with brocade cocktail costumes.

Prominent milliners also have employed buttons for decorative purposes. And Aris Givens has adapted them as jeweled cuff-links or sometimes as a touch of glamour on a long leather gaitlet.

Miss Westmoreland And Wesley Jones Repeat Vows

In a candlelight ceremony at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the First Methodist Church, Miss Jeanne Westmoreland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Westmoreland, 813 S. Washington, became the bride of Wesley Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar B. Jones, 1002 W. Rusk.

The Rev. Stanley Carter, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony before the altar banked with palms, ferns and aspidistra. Southern smlax entwined about two tall white pedestals on which were mounted large white urns holding arrangements of white gladiolus stock and carnations. Cathedral tapers burned in white, wrought-iron candelabra.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. W. H. Rickles, organist, played pre-nuptial selections. She accompanied Mrs. Samuel Armstrong as she sang "Through the Years," and Mrs. A. D. Westmoreland, who sang "Because." The traditional wedding marches were also used.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin with rounded neckline and yoke of illusion banded with a flat fold of satin. Long sleeves ended in petal points at the hands. The basque bodice was pointed at the front waistline, and the full, gathered skirt swept into a chapel-length train. Covered buttons were used at the back of the bodice. Her finger-tip veil of illusion fell from a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white tulips centered with a white orchid. Showers of white hyacinth blossoms and tiny satin love-knots fell to the hemline of her gown.

Mrs. Harold Shannon of St. Albans, Vt., attended her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Joy King Smith of Marshall, Mrs. Martin Nellius of Beaumont and Miss Barbara Gentry of Dallas. They wore dresses of pale blue marquisette designed with wide, scalloped bertha, fitted bodices, and extremely full gathered skirts over blue taffeta. A wide band of rose grosgrain ribbon tied around the waist and formed a large flat bow with streamers in the back. Their headdresses were bonnet brims of matching blue veiling which tied in a big bow in the back.

The bridesmaids carried bouquets of pink tulips and carnations tied with satin streamers. The matron of honor carried a modern colonial bouquet of tulips and carnations in shades of pale pink.

Oscar B. Jones, Sr., of Marshall attended his son as best man. Ushers were Bill Jones, Oscar B. Jones, Jr., and Harold Shannon.

Mrs. Westmoreland chose for her daughter's wedding a dinner gown of copper brown crepe with matching long gloves. Her hat was of pink maline and straw and her other accessories were gold. Her flowers were azalea blossoms.

Mrs. Jones wore a dinner dress of dusty rose with matching accessories. Her corsage was of white gladiolus blossoms.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. Receiving the guests were Mrs. Westmoreland, Mrs. Jones, the bride and groom, Mrs. Shannon, Miss Smith, Mrs. Nellius, and Miss Gentry. Miss Betty Byrne and Miss Carol Sanders presided at the bride's book. Mrs. Jack Cowley and Mrs. John E. Hill were at the bride's table.

Other members of the house-party were Misses Carol Thomas, Pauline Huffman, Jo Ann Blalock, Mary Jane Baldwin, Amella Goldberg, Mary Frances Jackson, and Mrs. Hulon Huffman, all of Marshall; Miss Margaret Friend, Waskom; Miss Anne Elise Sanders of Texas City; Mrs. B. E. O'Neal of Shreveport, La.; Mrs. Dave Evans, Houston; and Mrs. E. D. Saunders, Jr., College Station.

For traveling, Mrs. Jones wore a navy blue gabardine suit with navy and pink accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Upon their return, they will be at home at 709 Circle Drive.

Mrs. Jones is a graduate of Marshall High School and the University of Texas, where she was a member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. She is employed by the Texas and Pacific Hospital here.

Mr. Jones is a graduate of Conroe High School and Tulane University. He is co-owner of Jones Brothers Refrigeration Co. here.

In addition to members of the wedding and house parties, other out-of-town guests were Dr. Martin Nellius, and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Travis of Beaumont; B. F. O'Neal, Shreveport; Dave Evans, Houston; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Geddes, Shreveport; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McKinney and family, Shreveport; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Friend, Waskom; R. D. Saunders, Jr., College Station; Frank Sanders, St. Louis, Mo.

and Mrs. Noble Young, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Axton, Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Pharr, and Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Denman, all of Greenville; Mr. and Mrs. Leon Jones, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Jones and Miss Paul Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Jones, Charles Fugitt, and Mrs. Charles Fuller, all of Longview.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Shaffer, Mrs. Robert Hampton, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Kearby, all of Shreveport; and Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Yow and Lambeth Yow, all of Commerce.

Mrs. Roark Speaks To Modern Mothers

Mrs. H. M. Bell introduced the speaker, Mrs. Roark, urged her listeners to be courteous so that there may be perfect courtesy in the home.

"To be a good mother, one must start a long time before the birth of the child," said Mrs. Roark. "A firm foundation, begun in childhood, is the only way women of today can be good mothers."

Mrs. Roark stated that "Too much time can not be given to living with the child. It is discourteous to rob the child of his time. More desirable character traits are developed in hours of courteous play than in any other way."

The speaker used Robert Browning as an example of a child whose life was imbued with the Bible and courteous living. His mother took time for music, stories, reading and playing with her son. She was never "too busy," said Mrs. Roark.

She warned her listeners not to exact of a child adult judgment and convictions. "Scolding or unkindness to a child may warp his personality and impart a deep-seated fear complex," she said.

"Instead, the mother should strive always to get her understanding on the child's level. Failure to give a child the vision of a life of service for his fellow man, in the world as well as in the immediate community, is one of the worst things a parent can do to a child," she said.

In conclusion, she stated, "We must be worthy for the child to imitate."

Soil Testing and Composting Topic Of Marshall Garden Club Meeting

Mrs. Oscar McCary of Kilgore spoke to members of the Marshall Garden Club on the subject, "Soil Testing and Composting". Thursday afternoon when the group met in the home of Mrs. W. H. Hendren, 101 Riggs Circle Mrs. H. L. Jones was cohostess.

Mrs. McCary demonstrated the use of a home soil-testing kit, including methods of testing for various elements of the soil.

She listed by groups plants which require the same type of soil, including the alkaline, slightly acid, very acid, and very, very acid loving plants.

Mrs. McCary named the three vital soil elements as nitrogen, phosphorus, and potash. Nitrogen, she said, encourages leafy growth of the plant. Too much nitrogen in the soil brings about leafy growth rather than blooming.

Phosphorus encourages flowering strong stems, and a vigorous root growth. Potash helps the plant become more disease resistant, and makes it sturdier and stronger. Too much potash delays the maturing of the plant, but also makes it more drought-resistant, said the speaker.

Mrs. McCary then listed various chemical compounds which contained these essential soil elements. She gave the indore method of composting, including the formula for its preparation, and the directions for its use.

During the social hour, Mrs. A. J. Phillips served salad and Mrs.

James K. Abney poured coffee from a table laid with a green cloth and centered with a St. Patrick's arrangement. A green shamrock made of parsley was surrounded by cauliflower flower-ets. White candles were held in massed beds of parsley. In the living room, the nantel held an arrangement of pink snapdragons, purple ageratum and English ivy, flanked by pink tapers. Pale pink gladioli were arranged in various parts of the room.

Brasher-Puckett Vows Exchanged at Beckville

MRS. LOUIS DUANE PUCKETT, the former Miss Betty Ann Brasher, who was married in a formal ceremony at the Beckville Methodist Church last Sunday. The Rev. C. T. Wallace performed the ceremony. Mrs. Puckett is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Brasher of Beckville and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira S. Puckett of Pittsburg.

BECKVILLE — Miss Betty Ann Brasher and Louis Duane Puckett, of Pittsburg, exchanged wedding vows Sunday at 6 o'clock in a formal ceremony at the Beckville Methodist Church. Rev. C. T. Wallace, pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Brasher. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Ira S. Puckett of Pittsburg.

In the window white tapers burned in tall candelabra entwined with lace fern. The altar, which was carpeted in white, was banked in ferns, and wide-branched candelabra holding white tapers. Tall baskets of giant white gladioli, acacia, and fern, and the white satin kneeling pillow added beauty to the setting. Pews were marked with an arrangement of white tapers and white gladioli tied with white satin bows.

Mrs. Grady Kyle, of Nacogdoches, played the traditional wedding music including "Romance" by Rubenstein while the candles were being lighted and "Ave Maria" by Schubert during the ceremony. She accompanied Mrs. Landis Lee of Nacogdoches who sang "Tell Me Why," "O Promise Me," and "Because." The traditional wedding marches were used.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose a gown of white satin designed with a sheer yoke of illusion on which shirred medallions with seed pearl centers and seed pearls made an intricate design. The same design was carried into the fitted basque bodice. The long tightly fitted sleeves tapered into a point over her hands. The waistline of the gown gave a scalloped effect and melted into a very fully gathered skirt which swept into a graceful formal train. Her fingertip length veil of pure silk fell in graceful folds from a tiara of pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet centered with a yellow-throated orchid showered with lilies-of-the-valley and white satin streamers.

Miss Brownie Daniels served as maid-of-honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Arden Stewart of Corpus Christi; Miss Imogene Reed, Mt. Pleasant; Miss Buja Biggs, Beckville; and Miss Elizabeth Wallace, Beaumont. They wore light grey organdy over smoke grey tulle designed with a velvet V-neckline, slit sleeves, tightly fitted bodice with self-covered buttons down the front to the waist, a matching organdy tie-belt and a fully gathered skirt. Their headresses were matching grey organdy braided halos. They carried cascade bouquets of yellow roses and English ivy. Daisy Ann Harris, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. Her dress was of yellow organdy. Sonny Brasher, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

Candlelighters were Buford Fennell of Gilmer and Glen Brasher, brother of the bride. Marshall Pullen of Haynesville, La., served the bridegroom as best man. Groomsmen were Dr. H. L. Hughey, Murray Maddox, Hugh McClendon, and Robert Spencer all of Pittsburg.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a floor length dress of rose crepe and long white gloves. Her corsage was of white gardenias. The groom's mother wore a pale blue lace gown with matching gloves and a corsage of pink gardenias.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. In the receiving line were Mrs. Brasher, the bride and groom, Mrs. Puckett and the attendants. Miss Patsy Gillis presided at the register.

The bride's table was laid with an imported linen cloth. Placed at one end of the table was the three-tiered wedding cake which was embossed in white rosebuds and hearts and topped with a miniature bride and groom standing under a wedding bell. It was surrounded by yellow roses which were encircled with yellow mums. A crystal bowl of lime float was placed at the opposite end of the table. A basket arrangement of yellow and white flowers was used on the buffet.

Mrs. Grady Kyle served the cake and Mrs. Landis Lee served the float. Mmes. Douglas Harris and Lloyd Brooks assisted in the courtesies.

The bride is a graduate of Beckville High School and was a junior at Southern Methodist University. The bridegroom is a graduate of Pittsburg High School and was graduated from Texas A. and M. in January 1948. During the war he served 30 months in the Navy attaining the rank of ensign.

Following the reception the couple left for a wedding trip to points of interest in Tennessee and Mississippi. They will reside in Pittsburg. For traveling, the bride wore a navy gabardine suit, mauve hat and blouse, navy accessories, and an orchid corsage.

Cardinal 'Proud' Of Strike-Breaking

NEW YORK (U) — Striking Catholic gravediggers Saturday were on record against both communism and what they called "union-busting tactics" at a cemetery where priests and students have taken over gravedigging.

Francis Cardinal Spellman, describing the strikers' anti-Communist declaration as coming "rather late," says he will continue supervising 100 young clerics and seminarians in providing for burials.

"I admit to the accusation of strike-breaker and I am proud of it," the Roman Catholic prelate said. "If stopping a strike like this isn't a thing of honor, I don't know what honor is."

About 1,000 bodies, awaiting burial, have accumulated at Cavalry Cemetery, largest Catholic burial ground in this area, as a result of the seven-week-old dispute.

Sermon for Today

THE MEANING OF LENT
By FATHER A. M. KAVANAGH,
Assistant Pastor, St. Joseph's
Catholic Church

"At that time, Jesus was led by the Spirit into the desert, to be tempted by the devil. And when he had fasted forty days and forty nights, afterwards he was hungry" Matthew IV, 1-2

Christ was led by the Spirit into the desert. He who had come to teach us the mode of the perfect life could not neglect the valuable lesson of the withdrawal from the world in silence and contemplation of God. It is good for man to withdraw from the noise and tumult of our noisy every day life, to think of the great questions of God and of human destiny. That is the fundamental reason why Retreats, Days of Recollection and Weeks of Prayer are so important and eternally necessary, especially in this confused, chaotic world of today. Man is a forgetful being, and when engrossed by the issues of life, he is in danger of forgetting that he has a soul. In fact, in many parts of the world today the national teaching forced into the lives of every subject is the principle that man has no soul since there is no God.

Too often when the body with its sensible faculties is in the midst of the social contact and the whirl and hum and never ending strife of the world the soul is in a desert, the great moral desert of selfishness and baseness. There the immortal spirit of man becomes dwarfed and stunted, its fine impulses blunted by the bonds of matter, a chained Prometheus struggling to be free. Now, the Redeemer, whose Gospel was both spoken and acted, has taught us in his desert fast, that to unfetter the soul, we must break the bonds of matter and allow it to breathe the air of heaven in silence and contemplation of God. In being led into the desert by the Spirit of God, Christ has taught us docility of heart in following the impulses of the Holy Spirit. There is a special significance also in placing this even after His Baptism. He was always full of the Holy Ghost, but in stating that the Holy Ghost came upon him in Baptism, and thence guided him to the desert he teaches us that man by Baptism becomes a temple of the Spirit of God and that thenceforth he is to be ruled and guided by the inspirations of that spirit residing in the soul. How valuable it would be if a man were really in earnest to follow the movements of that imminent Spirit. If he would withdraw into the recesses of his own soul and listen to that Voice! If only men would not be creatures bowing and scraping to manne social conventions, to human respect, to the opinions of men! Even though that Voice within us is the voice of God it cannot be heard amid the contending strife of material issues.

It was the design of God that Christ should be tempted by the devil. Christ exempted himself from nothing that comes to mortal lot. Now among the sorrows of man is temptation; hence Christ would also be subjected to this, that he might be made like to his brothers in all things save sin.

Christ was the new Adam, the founder of the new order of things. The first Adam was tempted and fell, and drew all his posterity with him in the taint of original guilt. The new Adam also "met the tempter in grim battle and set him at naught, till he yielded and fled."

As he fought and vanquished the spirit of evil, so may we by the power communicated by him to us. The Redeemer has also taught us the prevalence of the evil agency that operates upon the soul of man.

A belief in the devil and a recognition of the influence that he bears upon human life is very useful to man. The incredulity of our age has excluded a belief in Satan as it has excluded a belief in God himself. However, this temptation of Christ ought to be most cheering to us. It is encouraging to know that the tempter who spared not the Son of God will not spare us.

The Holy Season of Lent is provided for us by the Church that we may imitate the example of Christ who has showed to us the way temptations (which are the source of sin and therefore unhappiness) may be overcome. He has taught us that by prayer and penance in silence will bring us to virtue (which is the only source of happiness) by which we become like unto God. This is man's only real objective.

ARGUMENTS MONDAY

Axis Sally Trial Evidence Complete

WASHINGTON (AP) — The evidence in the "Axis Sally" treason trial is all in.

Final arguments by prosecuting and defense attorneys will begin Monday and continue into Tuesday. The jury is scheduled to receive the case either late that day or on Wednesday.

Testimony in the six-week-old trial of Mildred E. Gillars, 48, ended Friday afternoon. Federal Judge Edward M. Curran then adjourned court until 11 a.m. Monday.

Johannes Schmidt-Hansen and Erwin Christiani, both former German radio officials, were the final witnesses.

John M. Kelley, Jr., the chief government prosecutor, put Schmidt-Hansen on the stand after Miss Gillars' attorney, James J. Laughlin, decided not to use him as a defense witness.

Schmidt-Hansen, once Miss Gillars' boss, testified that he did not recall asking her for a statement affirming her loyalty to Germany, as she had said he did.

Kelley then asked whether he recalled asking Miss Gillars to go to the Black Forest to broadcast for a secret German station. The witness insisted he did not recall either incident.

"That is a matter of 8 or 10 years ago," he said. "It is impossible for me or any other person to have exact recollection of such detail."

Christiani, recalled by Laughlin, repeated a similar testimony that Schmidt-Hansen told him to suspend Miss Gillars after she called the Japanese "yellow monkeys" and other words "after the Pearl Harbor attack."

If convicted, Miss Gillars faces a possible death sentence. The minimum penalty for treason is five years in prison.

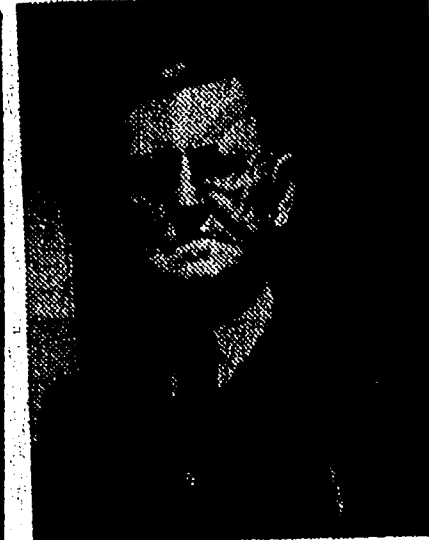

The jury, composed of seven men and five women, will decide only whether the Maine-born defendant betrayed America to work for the wartime German radio. In federal court procedure, the judge—not the jury—fixes the punishment.

Lost Fuel Plane Believed Located

FORT WORTH (AP) — Radio reports from Manila Saturday to Maj. Gen. Roger Ramey, eighth Air Force commander, indicated that a B-29 flying tanker, missing since it refueled the globe-circling B-50 bomber Lucky Lady II over the Philippines last Monday, has been located in a mountain range 120 miles east of Manila.

Natives reported to search headquarters at Clark Air Base, Manila, that the tanker was seen flying in the triangular area of the mountain range and investigation was continuing on the report by the pilot of a small search plane that he believed he had seen wreckage of a bomber on a mountainside.

Capt. William G. Fuller, Jr., of Fort Worth and two other Texans were aboard the tanker, one of several from the 43rd Bombardment Wing based at Tucson which took part in the Lucky Lady II refueling operations around the world.

PROGRESS REPORTED

Water, Sewage Work Advances

Work was moving forward this weekend on Marshall's new water system and the sanitary sewage expansion program geared to follow in its wake.

City Manager E. E. Justice said laying of the 16-inch cast iron pipe on the southwest section of the belt-line had begun, and formation of a recently authorized field survey party to contour-map the city for the sewage program was being completed.

City Engineer J. L. Albright said contour-mapping was underway on the projected outfall line desired immediately for the new Dogan (Negro) elementary school, a project which will go far toward providing the southwest portion of the city with sanitary sewage for much not served by this utility at present.

J. W. Schonhardt, construction superintendent for the water department, reported wet ground and the presently high water level along Pine Crest Drive East had handicapped laying of the 18-inch pipe somewhat, but that cave-ins behind the ditch-digger were being cleared rapidly to make way for the pipe.

Work on this section of the belt-line started at the intersection of Five - Notch Road near the southeast edge of the city, and is progressing westward.

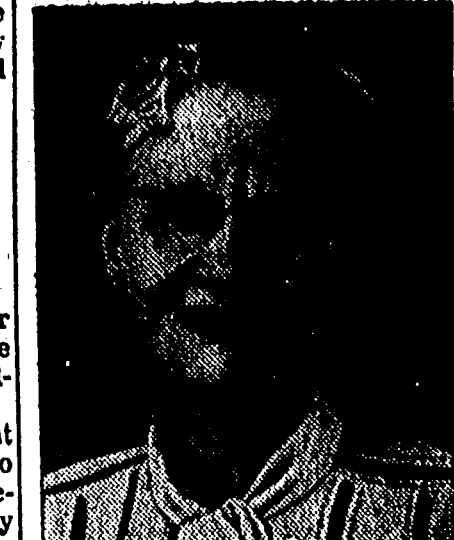

Virtually all of the pipe for the belt line, which was ordered early last fall, has been delivered and strung along the right - of-way around the city, with most of the 10-inch northeast section, save for the T. & P. Railway and U. S. highway 80 crossing, already laid and in service. Water is being brought into the new 18-inch line from Five - Notch Road westward by blocks as rapidly as the construction moves forward.

Field surveys for the sewage service expansion, which have been delayed pending expansion of the water supply and distribution system, were authorized recently by the city commission. Work meanwhile is reported nearing completion on the Cypress Bayou Pump Station, and is advancing at the filter building site in East Marshall. Officials have said the water system will be in operation by May 15.

Engineer Hurt in Belfrey Brings Aid With Bell

CONSHOHOCKEN, Pa. (AP) — Lying injured and helpless in the belfry of a 100-foot church tower, John J. Dewan tolled the church bell to summon aid.
The 55-year-old maintenance engineer fell from a ladder while making repairs in the tower, breaking his ankle.

Unable to make anybody hear his shouting, Dewan cried to the bell rope and started the bell tolling.

The ringing of the bell brought John Messner, church sexton, who summoned police and firemen. Dewan was lowered from the belfry with ropes and blankets.

5,000 Listings In New Marshall 'Phone Book

The new 1949 telephone directories began reaching Marshall exchange subscribers in the mails Saturday, with instructions that the listings were effective at midnight Tuesday and thereafter.

R. O. Bartlett, manager of the local exchange, urged that after midnight Tuesday telephone users refer to the new directory before dialing in order to curb confusion that may result due to the many changes incorporated in the system.

In expanding the exchange to accommodate the growing demand for telephone service, he said, it has been necessary to eliminate all the old three-digit numbers in the 700, 800 and 900 brackets.

Those in the 700 bracket some time ago were changed to the 6700 bracket, and at midnight Tuesday those in the 800 and 900 brackets became 7800 and 7900, as a general rule.

However, he cautioned, due to limitation of the automatic dial equipment, as well as to conform as nearly as possible to the desires of some subscribers, some numbers have been changed entirely, both in the old three-digit as well as the higher four-digit brackets.

For these reasons, Mr. Bartlett emphasized, telephone users can save themselves considerable time after midnight Tuesday by referring to the directory before dialing.

A rough check of the new directory indicates listings in the alphabetical (white page) section approximating 5,000 in number, against about 4,400 a year ago.

While the new classified section (yellow) pages runs 76 pages in length, two pages shorter than a year ago, it is noted that this section of the new directory contains none of the one-third to one-half page advertisements which a year ago accounted for about five pages of the section alone.

Aprons made by Mrs. J. W. Bishop were displayed at the meeting. Mrs. Bishop also reported on the number of boxes of greeting cards sold. The devotional was presented by Mrs. Virgil Greer, based on Colossians 4:15. "Back to the Home" was her topic which she developed along the following themes—back to the home in cooking, in sewing, in living our religion, and back to the home as in the days of our mothers when happiness was found in the best way of living.

Materials were distributed to members to make aprons for the council. Refreshments of bottled drinks and coconut cookies were served by the hostess. The meeting was dismissed with a prayer led by Miss Mizie Baker.

Gang Rounded Up

HOUSTON (AP) — Police believe they have caught the last member of a gang of teen-age joy riders said to have done their riding in 123 stolen automobiles in recent months. Police, placing the ages of the boys at from 14 to 17 years, said no attempts were made to sell the vehicles. The boys merely used them for rides.

MONROE, La. (U) — An early morning, wind-whipped fire destroyed two buildings in the business district here Saturday and damaged several other establishments.

W. G. Jasper, telegraph editor of the Monroe Morning World, said the fire broke out in the Keystone Paint & Decorating Co. about 4 a. m. and spread to the Quachita Furniture Store, destroying both.

All wire communications in and out of the Western Union office were disabled, he said.

Mother of Accused Spy Won't Believe Daughter Is Guilty

NEW YORK (U) — The mother of Judith Coplon sobbed "I don't believe it, I don't believe it," when she learned that her daughter had been arrested on charges of conspiring to steal government papers.

Reached at her Brooklyn home by telephone, Mrs. Samuel Coplon cried: "What's the matter, what's the matter with my daughter? Oh, tell me quick. Oh, God, God, please tell me."

Informing that Miss Coplon, 27-year old U. S. Justice Department employee, and an employee of the Russian delegation to the United Nations were in federal custody, accused of conspiring to remove U. S. documents, Coplon cried: "No, no, no. It's not so. I don't believe it. I don't believe it. I'll never believe it."

She then broke into an outburst of sobs. A woman who said she was Miss Coplon's aunt took the telephone.

The aunt, who did not give her name, said that they "knew something was wrong" because they expected Miss Coplon to return home Friday night, and they had not heard from her.

Told of the charges, the aunt said: "We — our family — do not believe it. We'll never believe anything like that of Judith. Never! never! never! This is our country. We were all born here and have lived here all our lives. It is our country."

She declined to discuss the matter further, or give details of Miss Coplon's background, and hung up.

Upper Atmosphere Rocket Research Moving to Sea

WASHINGTON (U) — Rocket research of the upper atmosphere is moving to sea, the Navy reported Saturday.

A seaplane tender, the Norton Sound, already is on the way toward South America, equipped with three rockets.

The Navy hopes that these can be sent at least as high as similar missiles launched at the White Sands, N. M., proving ground — 73 miles.

Objective of the tests, with Aero-bee rockets, a different type than the V-2, is to check cosmic rays and magnetism in the upper atmosphere, the Navy said.

The information gained, the Navy said, "will aid in solving long range radio transmission problems."

The first rocket will be fired off the coast of Peru. If that test is successful, the Norton Sound will move to a point off the west coast of Panama for firing of another rocket.

Two destroyers, the Anderson and the Agardholm, will accompany the seaplane tender to aid in tracking the flight of the rockets by radar.

Biggest Stride of Year Taken by Stock Market

NEW YORK (U) — The stock market took the largest stride ahead this week since the first week of the year.

More than one billion dollars was added to the quoted value of all stocks listed on the stock exchange.

But — the volume of trading added up to one of the smallest figures in months.

Not until Saturday's short session did the market give an encouraging sign that a sustained forward move might be in the making. In two hours of trading the general price level managed one of the year's sharpest advances — it was sharp, however, only in contrast with recent timid movements.

Noteworthy, though, according to market strategists, were the enlarged volume of trading and the fact that so-called pivotal stocks spearheaded the move.

Gains of fractions to more than a point were posted for such stalwarts as U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, American Telephone, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Standard Oil (N.J.), U. S. Rubber, American Can, Kodak.

Last Monday the market spurred for one of the snappiest gains in weeks but volume, except for a very short time, didn't amount to much. Next day buying interest soon puffed out.

On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday prices backed and filled in a fractional range.

Union Block Gets New Deep Test

Union Producing Co. this week-end announced plans for another exploratory wildcat on its big block astride the Harrison-Panola county line, in the Sabine River valley south and southeast from Marshall.

Location was staked for the firm's No. 1 Lena L. Bergin, on a 480-acre lease in the John Marshall survey, five miles southwest of Blocker.

This was also about four miles north and east from Union's No. 1 Harrison, Allen survey, Panola County, which a few weeks ago failed to confirm the G. J. Hollandsworth No. 1. Mrs. Alice Crahn's rich Pettit wet-gas discovery about five and a half miles northeast of Beckville.

Operator plans to take the new wildcat to 6,700 feet to test down to and in the Travis Peak. The No. 1 Harrison went to 6,860.

Announcement of the new location revived interest in the Beckville - Scottsville southwest - to-northeast trend in lease play which highlighted activities in Harrison County in the past two years. As yet isolated, small gas and oil finds dot the area covered in the play, the Hollandsworth discovery in the North Beckville area at the southwest anchor of the trend being the most promising of the finds to date.

The LaGloria Corp. has a new location at the southwest edge of the Waskom oil and gas field, the No. 1 Simpson-Arnold-Wobster, Simpson Holloway survey, 6,800 feet from northeast and 4,800 feet from northwest lines of the survey.

In the Whelan field, Harleton area, Placid Oil Co.'s No. 1 Katherine Bosch, Benjamin Parker survey, is reported drilling near 9,600 feet after coring white sand at 9,224-29 feet. Hole is first in the area to test the Cotton Valley.

150 YEARS AGO (1799) John Fries clinched the "Hot Water Rebellion" by leading armed citizens in Bethlehem, Pa., to oppose a tax based on the size of their houses. Another favorite type of protest which gave the rebellion its name, was pouring hot water out of the windows on tax assessors measuring the dwellings. State militia quelled the uprisings which spread through Eastern Pennsylvania.

MOLOTOV OUT

Red Action May Bring New Isolation Policy

WASHINGTON (U)—A new Russian isolationism may lie at the heart of the Kremlin policies which brought about the replacement of Soviet foreign minister Molotov by his fast-talking deputy, Andrei Vishinsky.

This possibility emerged today out of speculation stirred among Washington officials and diplomats by the startling Soviet development. It could mean either a softening or toughening of Russian policy toward the West — either Soviet moves for a truce in the cold war or the opening up of new political battlefronts.

If Russian policy is to be softened, American officials are convinced that it will be done gradually. They said it will probably show up in negotiations over long-standing controversies such as the Austrian independence treaty, Berlin blockade and related German problems, and rearmament and atomic controls in the United Nations.

But if the Russians do not want a truce, their tougher policy will be manifested in their border countries, top officials here believe.

Washington officials emphasized that no really accurate appraisal of the significance of the Molotov-Vishinsky shift can be made until more information is available. However, it is believed here that if a new period of isolationism is at hand, Russia's world relations may follow lines of the prewar decades rather than the 10 years that Molotov held power.

This would mean that the foreign office would be overshadowed in real foreign relations by the Cominform.

The Forum

The News Messenger welcomes letters from readers on subjects of general public interest. Letters must be free of personal abuse, must not be libelous, must be signed, must be in length, and must carry signature and address which can be checked prior to publication.

TO THE NEWS MESSENGER: It seems that a citizen of a Christian nation such as the United States of America, even though they are a newspaperman apt to lose their head, mind and all senses over something that will make headlines, would not want to see some things in print, such as this: "Churchman Admits Guilt As A Spy." We know that this is the one that reads of the affairs over in Europe that those Christians are suffering untold agonies and are persecuted to such an extent that they are torn down mentally then they will answer any way they asked. Any of us would do the same under similar circumstances. They are in such a condition that they are not responsible for their actions. Then the world and a wild newspaperman make headlines out of it. This is certainly the works of the old devil himself; and when we as Christians tolerate such things to be printed misleading the public, we are denying Christ ourselves just as Peter did.

It seems to me that our newspaperman as a matter of common decency would prevent things like that to be printed. Some of us know and see through it, but the average person will believe it, and that is just the reason it is being done. The Communist have really won a hard fought battle when they see such headlines as that. Then they laugh at what fools these American newspapermen are.

I know some people will say this is a free country and you can print whatever you wish. The Communists know that too so they are seeing to it that it gets printed. Just as long as such as that is printed, we are fighting Democracy, and Christianity and aiding Communism.

Charter Granted Elex Contractors

Word was received Saturday from Austin, that the secretary of state had granted charter of incorporation to the East Texas Contractors' Association.

W. R. (Bill) Price of Marshall, owner of Price Construction Co. and president of the association, said word was received from an attorney engaged by the association to handle legal aspects of the application.

Other officers of the association are J. Sam Owens of Longview, vice-president, and Gallant Floyd of Tyler, secretary-treasurer. These, along with J. E. Freeman of Marshall, Elmer Sharp of Tyler, Don Kerr of Kilgore and M. Clint Brown of Longview, comprise the board of directors of the association.

The association's charter grants it the authority to include members in 23 East Texas counties: Smith, Panola, Gregg, Rusk, Cherokee, Harrison, Upshur, Marion, Wood, Van Zandt, Camp, Tittus, Cass, Henderson, Anderson, Hopkins, Rains, Franklin, Nacogdoches, Shelby, Angelina, San Augustine, and Morris.

Purpose of the organization, as stated in application for charter, is to provide for the development and support of a trade association composed of contractors and subcontractors who employ labor at the job site in the building and construction industries in the specified area.

The application also stated the organization proposed to seek the development of a labor relations program, to foster improved relations, to bargain collectively, to negotiate wage, hour and working condition agreements, and to provide for arbitration.

Buster Northern Execution Stayed

AUSTIN (U)—Another 30-day stay of execution has been granted Buster Northern, sentenced to die for the fatal slaying of a 69-year-old woman.

Gov. Beauford Jester granted the second reprieve on the recommendation of the Board of Pardons and Paroles. The board said it wanted to complete an investigation of the case.

The new date of execution is April 15.

Northern was convicted twice in Dallas County for the murder of Mrs. Fannie McHenry on March 27, 1946. The first conviction was reversed because of a faulty indictment. The court of Criminal Appeals said the indictment failed to say that the slaying had been done "with feet with shoes on his feet." The second death sentence was upheld.

William the Silent, Prince of Orange, freed the Netherlands from Spain and is held by the Dutch in the esteem given George Washington as father of his country.

Rites Conducted For Gun Victim

JEFFERSON—Funeral services for T. C. (Chester) Carmack, 44, who was killed by an accidental discharge of his gun near his home, near Jefferson, in Marion County, were held at the Avenger Baptist Church Friday.

Carmack was clearing new ground at his farm, in the Liberty community, and had taken his gun to the field with him. On his return toward home at noon, he apparently slipped as he walked up a hill, his gun was discharged and blew the top from his head with the force of number seven shot. The inquest verdict was returned as accidental death by gunshot wound.

Carmack's body was found a short time later by his son, Charles Kenneth, 10, who had been sent to summon his father for dinner.

Sheriff Joe Riggs of Marion County, who investigated the tragedy, said Carmack was found with the axe under his body, dropped from his right hand, his gun was lying near his head, as if it had been dropped from his left hand, as if he might have dropped it when he slipped on the rocks along the path up the hill he was traveling.

Linden Phone Situation Told To Lions Club

LINDEN — L. E. Lemerchik, representing the owners of the Linden Telephone System, was guest speaker before the Lions Club at the weekly luncheon meeting Thursday.

The improvement of the telephone service at Linden was the theme of his address. The city of Linden has been negotiating with the telephone company officers for some change looking to the improvement of the service at Linden. Both dial and flash systems were discussed as replacements for the old time winding box system now in use at Linden. Comparative monthly rates were given for all types. In each instance the change would increase the monthly rates substantially.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Parents, Teachers Should Make Children Feel Love

By MYRTLE MEYER ELFRID
The Parent-Teacher Association in each school provide the parents and teachers with an opportunity to discuss their individual problems. Both should take advantage of this opportunity to bring before the group the problems which harass them.

A Worried Mother thinks I should write something about parents and teachers getting together for the purpose of cooperation. "My 6-year-old," she writes, "has an idea that everyone hates her. She told me recently that her teacher wouldn't believe her when she told the truth. It happened my daughter had an accident the night before and her face was scratched. When a child in school was hurt the teacher blamed my daughter. This made her so mad that she said, 'I wouldn't tell you anything, you wouldn't believe me anyway.'"

I know that she is naughty, but should she be constantly reminded of the fact? I know she gets blamed for things she doesn't do, because she has this reputation. The teacher told me in her presence that she couldn't get along with anyone.

"She feels that no one is on her side but God and that he alone can help her. I think it is dreadful for a child to feel so persecuted. She does know that I love her and she usually tells me the truth."

It is a terrific handicap for a child to carry the burden of feeling unloved. Luckily, you are able to mitigate this burden by your freely expressed affection.

You should go farther and ask one or two children into your home at a time, for lunch or for dinner and this help your child to become better acquainted and feel she has some friends and champions in school. Choose the children she likes. See that they have fun and are tactfully supervised so that nothing unpleasant occurs.

It is probable that with that I don't-care attitude your daughter makes plenty of trouble in school. But the teacher is not to be exonerated for passing out so much blame with no praise to balance it. A child soon finds she gains significance by living up to the reputation accorded her. If she thought the teacher admired her and thought her good, she would work just as hard to merit the opinion.

You can deal with these problems in the P.T.A. by formulating some such subject as: What shall parents do to help the misbehaving child in school? What shall teachers do?

GRAHAM (M) — Three students of Graham High School are awaiting word on the extent to which their eyes were burned by acid.

The three were among the 16 students and an instructor injured Friday when sulphuric acid exploded from a defective flask.

Dr. R. E. Gowan, attending physician, said Joyce Creager, 14, had a small hole burned in the central area of each eye cornea; that Virginia Smith, 14, had severe burns on both eyes, and that L. J. Russell, 17, had the whole surface of his left cornea burned off. All are Graham residents.

Dr. Gowan said six hospitalized students had second degree acid burns on the face, arms and hands. He said full extent of eye injuries could not be determined immediately.

Hearing For 'Lonely Heart' Slayers Set

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (M) — Michigan and New York State may decide Tuesday which is to prosecute Raymond M. Fernandez and Martha Beck for murder.

An extradition hearing for the alleged "lonely hearts" killers will be held at the capitol in Lansing Tuesday.

In New York stout Mrs. Beck, 29, and the balding 34-year-old Fernandez might face execution in the electric chair. Murder's extreme penalty in Michigan is life imprisonment.

The pair, accused of three killings, operated an alleged mail order romance racket. Whether they will fight extradition remains to be seen.

Authorities claim confessions from them that they killed Mrs. Janet Fay, 50, in Valley Stream, N. Y., and Mrs. Delphine Downing, 29, and her 20-month-old daughter, Rainell, near here.

Reburial Rites Conducted For Bobby Crump

CARTHAGE — Reburial services for Bobby Crump, 19, who was killed in action on Okinawa, May 30, 1945, were held Friday at the Ramah Methodist church at 2:30 o'clock. The Rev. C. T. Wallace and Rev. Paul Wallace officiated.

Crump was a native of Panola county and was in the U. S. Marines.

Survivors include his father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Crump, a brother, Philip Crump and a sister, Jane Crump.

The American Legion Post, 353, Carthage, conducted military services at the graveside.

Truman-Vaughan Friendship Rooted in AEF and Politics

By W. H. SHIPPEN, JR.

In the Washington Star World War I

PRESIDENT TRUMAN

1917, when they joined the field artillery.

The general "gets his foot in his mouth" occasionally, and there can be little doubt that his commander in chief shares his embarrassment. Yet when Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan was attacked by Communist Drew Pearson, President Truman came to his aid with a vigor that smacked of their barracks room days together.

Both Missourians are graduates of the same tough military school. First Lt. Truman met Sgt. Vaughan — as the President explained — "at Fort Sill in 1917."

the training camp known as Camp Doniphan, 35th Division, First World War.

ROUGH ARMY GRIND

Oldtimers still recall this particular "university" as one of the roughest grinds on Army lists.

They can't recall, however, hearing any abbreviations like "S. O. B." bandied about — especially if applied to somebody for running down a buddy.

When the President defied "any S. O. B." to bring about the discharge of his military aide, he was standing up for a fellow artilleryman of the AEF, as well as for the man who helped him build up a meager campaign fund during a tough senatorial race back in 1940.

He saw no reason, despite the columnist's criticism, why Gen. Vaughan should not have accepted a medal from Argentina. On other occasions, however, the President has remained silent, or even "pulled the carpet out from under the general," as one news commentator put it.

TONES DOWN REMARKS

The bluff, hearty Missourian of Scotch-Welsh descent has learned to temper his remarks somewhat under the weight of his two stars and the golden shoulder loop of the White House military aide — this, his friends say, despite a lifelong penchant for speaking his mind freely.

The general had only one star and little knowledge of how much his new rank had added to the carrying power of his voice when he gave the Women's Auxiliary of the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Alexandria a few impressions he had brought back from overseas.

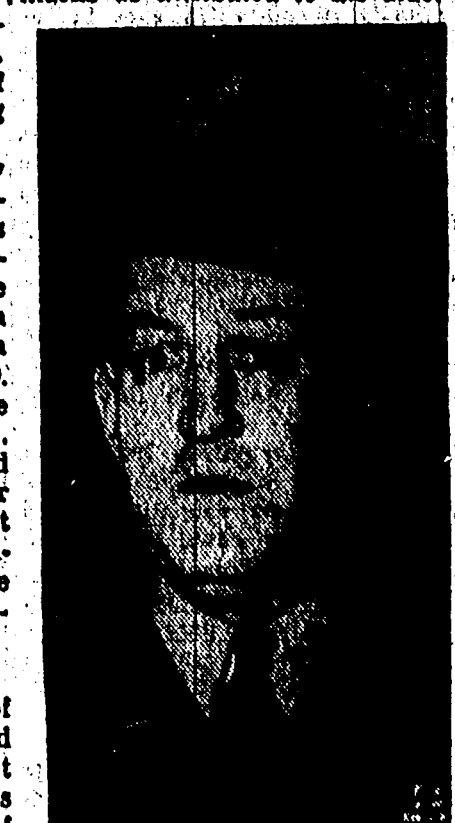

Having been to the Potsdam conference with President Truman, he remarked that Winston Churchill was a "garrulous old gentleman" and that the Russians would buy anything they can't get their hands on otherwise. He added he guessed the furnishings of the palace where the conference was held were "already three-quarters of the way to Moscow."

He really took the plunge, however, when he informed the Protestant audience that Catholics appointed their best men as chaplains, while the Protestant church usually went pastors without congregations, or those looking for "three-year vacations."

TARGET OF PROTESTS

The general was astonished at the reaction. He told friends he thought he was talking in private as an elder of the church. It appeared, however, some people took the view he was speaking for the White House. Protests came from far and wide. Later, churchmen announced President Truman had "disassociated" himself with remarks as attributed to his aide.

GEN. VAUGHAN

Harry Vaughan served in France with the 15th Artillery, returning a captain, while Harry Truman came back a major after fighting with the 120th. Both had served through the major campaigns.

Capt. Vaughan remained active in the Reserves after returning to civilian life in St. Louis. He was a plant manager, salesman and railroad inspector. The general took his first fling at politics in 1940, when he became treasurer of his friend's campaign fund for re-election to the Senate.

Funds were short, so Harry Vaughan put up $80 for 1 1/2-cent postcards, which he dispatched with requests for dollar contributions. He kept rolling up the returns until he raised $18,000 for the successful campaign which followed.

In January of 1941 he came to Washington as Senator Truman's secretary.

As White House aide, Gen. Vaughan has been a hard worker, assuming details relating to veterans' affairs and the military establishment, which had burdened previous Presidents. He serves as a confidential secretary as well as a trusted confidant of the President.

Dallas Housing Officers To Attend Meeting Here

Six officials of the Dallas district office of the Federal Housing Administration will be in Marshall Tuesday night for the conference on "economy housing" arranged by the housing committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

They are R. E. Shepherd, district director, and E. G. Neely, Dick Carmody, Ralph Banks, Herschel D. Smith, Jr., and Stuart Burke.

Local builders, building materials dealers, labor representatives, abstractors, real estate dealers, lending institutions, and others engaged in the field of housing are invited to attend.

Nathan D. Goldberg, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce housing committee, said the purpose of the meeting is to discuss the $6,300 home which FHA is promoting this year.

The virtual cessation of home construction in Marshall since the first of the year is a factor which local planners say is expected to throw considerable emphasis on Tuesday night's meeting, set for 7:30 in the chamber offices.

The big decline in home construction is a source of considerable worry, not alone to those in the building industry, but to city officials and city planners as well. Officials of the FHA have indicated that the $6,300 "economy house" may be the answer to the problem.

Weak, Watery Blood Blamed for Making Men and Women Look and Feel Older

How do you feel at the end of a day? Is that old time pep and drive lacking? Have you checked-up on your blood strength lately? These are now signs of aging, and they can be reversed by getting good looks and vitality through the release of vibrant energy to every muscle, vein, and cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a general run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that 888 Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the 888 Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, 888 Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with flat, bloated and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red blood. Start on 888 Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin, trim, fresh, full, and healthy places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store, 888 Tonic—Build Sturdy Health.

recreation centers of the nation," the governor messaged. "Texas can offer the tourist and its own people historic shrines, important museums, wide varieties of wholesome entertainment and cultural advantages unexcelled."

However, he declared, "we cannot hope to take full advantage of these opportunities to build health and character, to provide wholesome recreation and attract tourists, if we continue our appropriation for the state parks at the present scale, which, amazingly, is less than two cents per person," he continued.

The governor cited establishment during the past year of an interstate agency committee on recreation — providing co-ordination of the efforts of such departments as the game, fish and oyster commission, the state parks board, the education department, the vocational education department, the highway department and others —

Long Way Down, Still No Oil

SANTA PAULA, Calif. (AP)—Down down, down to 18,500 feet is Super Oil Co.'s record-breaking oil well.

That depth was reached Thursday as work at the company's Limonera No. 1 well progressed.

Only trouble is: No oil or gas has been tapped since the operation began last Sept. 6. A good pocket of water was reached about 2,000 feet, though. The company now wonders whether to go on to 19,000 feet.

Damage Slight In Three Fires

Three fire alarms in a four hour period Friday afternoon kept the Marshall fire department on the run, but no serious property damage was reported as a result of the blazes, according to Fire Chief Carl Bechtold.

Heat from over-size bulbs in a ceiling fixture was blamed for a ceiling fire at a 409 N. Hollister residence owned by W. H. Hendren and occupied by Glenna Merwick. Damage was estimated at $75. The alarm was sounded at 6:55 o'clock Friday afternoon.

At 2:20 o'clock a brush fire on Morton St. at the Southwest edge of the city burned over an estimated 50 to 75 acres of land. At 5 o'clock in the afternoon about $25 damage resulted when electric wiring shorted and burned out in a car owned by T. C. Taylor of Marshall as he was driving it at the "Y" in East Marshall.

Battle Brewing Over West Point of Air

Rep. Paul Kilday of San Antonio has drawn a tough opponent in the battle over location of the new air academy.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, one of whose many jobs while he is on leave from Columbia University is to fashion a plan for the training of air force cadets, is believed to lean toward Sedalia, Mo.

Representative Kilday, it goes without saying, is recommending San Antonio. He already has introduced a bill to locate the academy in the vicinity of that city.

The story going the rounds of the defense department in Washington is that General Ike likes the central location of Sedalia in the United States, and he is drawing support from President Truman's interest in the Missouri base since he approved the unification act.

W. Stuart Symington, secretary of air, also a Missourian, naturally is inclined to give more than passing consideration to the establishment of a West Point of the Air in Missouri.

It's a strong combination Representative Kilday is backing. One of the things that is making it tough for the San Antonio Congressman is the general idea of air force planners to create an air academy where there would be little flying.

South Texas weather, which lured the Royal Air Force to the state during World War II, is one of the strongest selling points at Kilday's disposal.

The flying would come later, after graduation from the academy, and on an extensive scale at one of the big air bases in Texas. As a consequence, Missouri's often cold and snowy winters would not stand in the way of Sedalia, since most of the work of the cadets would be classroom study.

The Sedalia base was used in World War II as a school for glider pilots and airborne infantry.

Legislature Faces Tax Issue At Session's Halfway Mark

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN (AP) — To tax or not to tax is the touchy question still facing the Legislature as it reaches the halfway point in the 51st regular session.

House and Senate calendars were loaded with dynamite but House committee action on related rural road and new tax proposals bring the first real test of this major issue this week.

REPORT WEDNESDAY

Comptroller Robert S. Calvert, whose job it is to keep track of spending and balance it against available or possible income, will tell the House Revenue and Taxation Committee Wednesday what the latest financial outlook is.

The committee indicated this week it wanted to know before it decided on several revenue proposals.

Final action by the Senate and House last week sent to Gov. Beauford H. Jester's desk the season's first major legislation: The key-stone bill in the prison rebuilding program, and cost-of-living raises for state workers.

The tip-off on what the comptroller may tell the House Revenue Committee came from Jester. "At present I don't see it," he said when asked if a $30 million rural road bill sent to the House by the Senate would require new taxes.

Appropriations totalling more than $49 million above the comptroller's estimate of available spending money are before the Legislature. If such factors as the decline in oil production should prompt Calvert to give the House committee a less optimistic estimate than the $318 million now figured as in hand or in sight, the committee might recommend any one of several pending plans for new levies.

Tax bills must originate in the House.

SCHOOL BILLS

The Gilmer-Alkin public school issue was alive and kicking. There may be some new fireworks on it when the House Constitutional Amendments Committee takes up a proposal to make the elective job of state superintendent a constitutional office Monday afternoon. The Gilmer-Alkin plan would make it appointive.

The session passes the constitutionally suggested midway mark March 11 — Friday — and only one of the major must money bills was ready for floor consideration in either House or Senate. This was the senate's judiciary bill. The must bills are the appropriations for state departments, the judiciary, the eleemosynary institutions, the state colleges.

The House was still waiting for an opinion from Attorney General Price Daniel on validity of a bill making up last year's shortage in rural school aid funds.

HOUSE ACTION

Action last week in the House included final passage of the Judges Retirement Act which now goes to the Senate; a decision to hold an on-the-ground investigation of the soldier's burial incident at Three Rivers; passage of a bill setting up a 9-member committee to study the election laws.

House committees have their heaviest agendas of the session. Facing them are hearings on the C. S. McLellan natural gas tax-feeder road measure Monday night; the $30 million rural road bill Tuesday night; the prison products sale bill Wednesday afternoon; the $10 million soil conservation bill and soldier bonus bills Wednesday afternoon.

Frank Grigsby Funeral Sunday

The Rev. Lloyd Ozment will conduct the services and burial will be in the Gill Cemetery.

Mr. Grigsby had worked Friday as usual, but told his wife when he returned home that he was ill and planned to go to the T&P Hospital for a diagnosis.

He collapsed in the bathroom and died almost immediately.

A native of Rusk County, Mr. Grigsby was born Dec. 11, 1893. He had been a resident of Marshall for 20 years.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Alva Grigsby; one son, Melvin Grigsby, and one daughter, Miss Mary Francis Grigsby, all of Marshall; three brothers, Willis Grigsby, Neeley Grigsby and Everett Grigsby, all of Marshall; six sisters, Mrs. J. H. Walnwright and Mrs. Hester Hickman, both of Marshall; Mrs. E. J. Goldberg of Beaumont; Mrs. John Fedorocko, New York City; Mrs. Orbie Harrison, Baltimore, Tex.; and Mrs. C. C. Jolner, Phoenix, Ariz.

Palbearers will be members of the Odd Fellows Lodge.

Crossed Legs Resented

MELBOURNE, Australia — A demand that women be prohibited from crossing their legs on streetcars was made to the tramways board. An irate passenger asked for a law when the crossed toe of her seatmate snagged her new nylon.

Although women were not generally emancipated in the American colonies, traveling widows and unmarried women sometimes were permitted to vote.

Case No. 288, man, age 24, felt sore all over, had headaches, was nervous, stomach was upset, neck was tense and stiff, and he had become so irritable he did not like to be around people. Yet, even so, his problem cleared up quickly after going to a chiropractor.

Case No. 226, woman, age 35, had fallen down some steps and her back and legs hurt so badly she had to be assisted in walking. She was nervous, could not sleep, and her head and neck had a heavy, dull feeling. She was driven 40 miles to see a chiropractor and the woman said most of her discomfort was gone before she returned home.

Have you problems? Work them out, solve them. Have you health problems? Consult a chiropractor and let him help you to solve them.

Sighted Peacock, Jailed Same

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A policeman must get accustomed to a lot of strange things—such as spotting a peacock crossing the street.

That's what happened to Patrolman William Hipple.

Hipple was walking along, minding his own and the public's business, when he sighted the gayly-feathered bird strutting across a busy intersection.

Hipple placed the peacock in protective custody. Unable to find its owner in the neighborhood, he finally turned the bird over to the Philadelphia Zoo.

Then the policeman settled down to write his official report: "Found one peacock, Craig and Rhawn Streets, 11 a. m.—"

Goldberg Recommended To Realty Board Post

N. D. Goldberg, local realtor, has been recommended for membership on the civil activities committee of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

T. D. Rausheck, president of the local real estate board, said his appointment has been recommended in a letter to Arch I. Madden, chairman of the NAREB committee.

Mr. Goldberg is immediate past president of the local board and is chairman of the Chamber of Commerce housing committee.

In addition, he resigned only last year as secretary of the Rotary Club after 11 years, and is now serving as president of the Marshall Golf and Country Club. Mr. Rausheck pointed out in the letter.

Stranger In His Own Home

OMAHA (AP) — Not all is grimness in the fight against snowdrifts in North Dakota, Maj. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, Operation Snowbound commander, observed today as he related this story:

James Fulton of Amidon, N. D., made six beds in his home available to Fifth army relief workers.

There was considerable confusion due to the turnover in personnel. One night Fulton walked into a room and the occupant asked him: "Who are you? Are you assigned to this room?"

"I live here," Fulton replied. "This is my room."

YOUR PROBLEMS

There are business problems, industrial problems, problems of state and world problems of great proportions that occupy many minds. But all of these are insignificant when compared with your problems.

Your problems are all very vital — to you. They cause you worry and loss of sleep. They make you irritable and mean, they get you down and sometimes drive you to tears. No one else, you are sure, ever had such vexing problems as those that confront you.

And what is the nature of your problems? They may be domestic, they may be love, or business, or politics. You may have household problems, school problems, or a thousand and one other worries, but whatever they may be they are terrific and your life is all upset because of them.

Problems are really not what they seem. They are usually simple when you take them apart and analyze them for what they are. They seem bad because of circumstances and because you look at them en masse. When you take up each item of difficulty singly and solve it and then apply a similar system to all the rest, you soon have no problem at all.

Take a domestic problem, for instance. The day confronts you with beds to make, dishes to wash, dusting to do, clothes to iron, mending to be done, meals to get, shopping to do, and a thousand other things crowding in. It looks hopeless and sets you to worrying. You become nervous and cross, then everything goes wrong. You feel like running off.

But that is not the way. You cannot run away from trouble for when you run it dogs you like a shadow and you get nowhere.

Turn and face it. Take up each task singly and finish it. Sing as you go, but keep going and soon you will have a great deal done. Besides, you will keep a sunny disposition and you will not feel all worn out with nothing accomplished at the end of the day.

Perhaps yours is a health problem. You may not feel like working. You may tell yourself that you feel too bad even to do minor things. Perhaps you do, but there is a cause for it. Your emotional unbalance may be at fault. And then again the cause may be in your spine. You have probably had a fall or an accident that subluxated a vertebra. Nerves are pinched as a result and your resistance is lowered to the point that you are sick and need to see a chiropractor as was true of the following cases:

Case No. 288, man, age 24, felt sore all over, had headaches, was nervous, stomach was upset, neck was tense and stiff, and he had become so irritable he did not like to be around people. Yet, even so, his problem cleared up quickly after going to a chiropractor.

Case No. 226, woman, age 35, had fallen down some steps and her back and legs hurt so badly she had to be assisted in walking. She was nervous, could not sleep, and her head and neck had a heavy, dull feeling. She was driven 40 miles to see a chiropractor and the woman said most of her discomfort was gone before she returned home.

Have you problems? Work them out, solve them. Have you health problems? Consult a chiropractor and let him help you to solve them.

Job Placements Increase Again

Job placements in the three-county Marshall area again edged upward slightly during the week ended Wednesday, according to the weekly labor market summary of George D. Robins, office manager in Marshall for the Texas Employment Commission.

A total of 60 persons were placed in private employment during the period, as compared with 58 during the previous week, the TEC official reported. Twenty-two were veterans.

With the increase in placements, however, came a decline in the number of local job openings, from 28 to 24, while the number of employment opportunities outside the area remained static at 273.

Another unfavorable tendency of the week was an increase in number of job applicants from 51 to 80. The number of persons reported as "available" for work also increased, from 1,012 to 1,160 of whom 400 are veterans.

LONDON — If you sneeze and lose your dentures while feeding seagulls, it's an accident and you get a new set free. That's the decision of Bristol officials of the national health service.

They examined the case of a man whose top dentures fell into Bristol harbor while he was feeding the gulls. The local executive voted him a new pair, holding that the old teeth were "lost by accident and not carelessness."

Beck Lauded By Scout Head

County Judge R. M. Nichols, chairman of the Caddo District Boy Scout committee, Saturday commended Herb Beck, who has resigned as field Scout executive, for his work with Harrison County units during his 19 months in that capacity.

"Mr. Beck has done a splendid job, and is to be congratulated for his achievements with the youth of Harrison County," the committee chairman declared.

Mr. Beck resigned effective March 1 to enter private business. Until a regular field executive is assigned to this district, F. M. Arnold, assistant executive of the East Texas Area Council, will serve as field executive. It has been announced.

Judge Nichols said no information is available yet as to when a regular executive will be assigned.

BIG YEAR FOR DAN?

Courthouse Records Show Cupid Still Edging Ahead of Divorces

If the records for the first two months of 1949 carry through the year, Harrison County's divorce rate, compared to marriages, will be at one of the lowest ebb since the high tide of matrimonial difficulties began mounting under pressure of the war years.

For the first two months of the year little Dan Cupid stepped up his pace to a speed slightly better than three to one over divorces granted, and was maintaining a slightly better than two to one lead over new divorce suits filed.

About a year ago marriage licenses were being issued at a rate of about two to each divorce granted. The rate stepped up during the past year to about two and a half marriages for each divorce granted, and the opening months of this year mark the first three to one ratio for marriages over divorces here in a number of years.

MORE ACTIVITY DUE

While developments along these lines during January and February in past years have been below average for full years, observers were hopeful that the trend of the first two months, which has been noticeably growing for the past year, would carry over into the months ahead when Cupid and the divorce court may both be expected to show more activity.

For 1949's opening two months

97 marriage licenses have been issued at the office of County Clerk Glenn Link. This compares with 30 divorces granted and three suits for divorce dismissed by Judge Sam B. Hall in 71st District Court. The marriage license figure also compares with District Court Clerk Jack A. Moore's report of 43 new suits for divorce filed in the same period.

January saw 48 marriage licenses issued, against 15 divorces granted and two suits for divorce dismissed, with 29 new suits for divorce filed. In February 49 marriage licenses were issued, against 15 divorces granted, and one suit for divorce dismissed, with 16 new divorce suits filed.

NO DISMISSALS

If the January and February figures carried forward for the remainder of 1949 the totals would reach 582 marriages licenses, against 180 divorces granted, 18 suits for divorce dismissed, and 270 new suits for divorce filed.

This would compare with 1948's record of 673 marriage licenses issued, against 219 divorces granted, 114 suits for divorce dismissed, and 304 new suits for divorce filed. It was pointed out that District Judge Hall has yet to perform the customary dismissal of divorce suits filed more than three years ago which have not been prosecuted by plaintiffs, an item which annually strikes 90 to 100 or more old divorce actions from the docket. This, along with the fact that January and February are usually below normal months both at the marriage license counter and in the divorce court, make a full comparison impossible as yet.

New Firm Enters Longwood Field

Midstates Oil Corp. Saturday had entered the Longwood oil and gas field astride the state line 10 miles north of Waskom.

The firm was reported to have paid $14,850 for five-year leases on 640 acres in sections 17 and 20 immediately south of the Longwood field, in Louisiana.

Midstate's block is about three and a half miles south, and slightly east, from Phillips No. 1 Hammock, which opened the area to rich gas-distillate production from the deep Cotton Valley horizon.

The leases are on the Mrs. Myron R. Mitchell and others land in sections 17, 10-18-19.

Filling of the leases for record gave rise to speculation that the first Louisiana side Cotton Valley confirmation test might be forthcoming. Placid has slated its No. 1 Winston Bros., Perry survey, a mile and a half northwest of the discovery on the Harrison County side, and Sam E. Wilson Oil Co. of Corpus Christi has slated the No. 1 Hearne estate, Baker survey, four miles south and one mile west from the discovery, to test the deep pay. Placid is reported committed to drill a second Cotton Valley test if production is obtained at the No. 1 Winston Bros.

Jack H. Meeks has acquired and filed for record leases covering approximately 380 acres in the John Blair, John Ferguson and Abraham Jenkins surveys in the area 12 miles northwest of Marshall.

Also placed of record here is lease acquired by E. B. Seale of Dallas on the 161.8 acre William Bell Jones McFadden et vir land, in the J. T. Richardson survey 20 miles northwest of here.

Children's Diseases Above 7-Year Average

AUSTIN — The incidence of measles, chickenpox, pneumonia and mumps last week was well above the seven-year average for this period of the year, the State Health Department reported.

There were 3,681 new cases of measles compared with the past average of 897 for the week ending Feb. 28. The new chickenpox cases totaled 2,299 compared with an average of 542; pneumonia, 602 against 370; and mumps, 554 against 320.

Wounded Burglar Flees With Companions in Car

CORSICANA — A nightwatchman shot one of three men who burglarized a Frost, Tex., grocery store early Saturday but all three men escaped in an automobile. Sheriff David Castles of Navarro County announced.

Bill Melton, nightwatchman, surprised the men and fired the shot. Castles said.

According to the sheriff, two of the men forced their way into the Summerall Grocery at 3 a.m. and took $40 from the safe. The third man waited in an automobile outside the store.

When the two burglars emerged from the establishment, Melton sighted them and fired four shots.

One of the men dropped to the sidewalk but managed to get up and make his way to the car. He left blood on the sidewalk.

Couple Indicted In Texas Turkey Deals

PHILADELPHIA — Two people have been indicted here on charges of using the mails to defraud 45 turkey-egg producers, most of them in Texas. The indictment charges that the Railway Express Agency, Inc., also was defrauded.

The defendants are John C. Faust and his wife, Cora, operators of an Ephrata, Pa., hatchery. They were held under $1,000 bail each.

The indictment charges the Fausts failed to pay turkey egg producers, most of them Texans, for large portions of shipments. It claims also that the couple made false claims on the express company for damages to eggs allegedly broken or frozen in transit.

'Blind Man' Gets Fine On Driving Count

NEW ORLEANS — Johnny Jeffery, Negro "blind man," is in trouble with the law again. Jeffery, who police said usually walks a downtown street with a tin cup and a dog during business hours, was arrested going home from work. He was charged with reckless driving, and fined $15 or five days in jail.

A few weeks ago he paid a $25 fine on a cruelty to animals charge. The SPCA charged he made his little dog carry the tin cup.

Valve-in-Head - and Fireball too!

Wildcat shown here, as illustrated, available at extra cost.

It seems that valve-in-head engine design is becoming quite the thing, now that gasolines are stepping up in octane rating and higher compression ratios begin to be worth while.

Well, that's dandy as far as Buick is concerned.

For more than forty-five years, Buick engineers have been working with, developing and learning all about valve-in-head engine design.

So quite some time ago Buick applied a principle, possible only in valve-in-head design, which still remains a Buick exclusive.

It is Fireball design—and it's an interesting engineering story.

It comes from a specially shaped piston, designed to roll each fuel charge into a compact, whirling, ball-shaped mass. It goes a step beyond high-compression ratios, because it means better mixing of fuel—and so better burning.

Result: More good from each fuel charge. A touch more life, pep, ginger. More of that happy, satisfying feel of power and zip that give Buick its good flame as a performer.

So remember, as more and more cars climb on the valve-in-head bandwagon, that Buick is still calling the tune. Still ahead in knowledge and experience and development of a principle that has always been recognized for its greater basic efficiency.

With self-setting valve lifters adding new quiet and washing out tappet noise, it's plain that "Buick's the buy!" on engine design as in other ways.

Come satisfy yourself on that score—and get a firm order in either with or without a car to trade.

BUICK alone has all these features

300-horse DYNALOW DRIVE • FULL-VIEW VISION from enlarged glass area • SHOCK-EASY BOOTS and easy access • "LIVING SPACE" INTERIOR with Deep-Cradle cushions • Buick's new QUADRI-FLUX coil springing • Buick's new FIREBALL STRAIGHT-DRIFT POWER with SELF-SETTING VALVE LIFTERS plus Hi-POINT MOUNTING • Buick's new VIBRO-POINT Low-pressure tires on SAFETY-RIDE RIMS • BUICK BRAKING, main and connecting rods BODY BY FISHER. Based on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on FIVE models.

Texas Farm Income Down

AUSTIN — Texas farm income totaled $40,406,000 in January, falling 36 per cent from December and 30 per cent from January 1948, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported. The bureau's greatest source of January income, brought Texas raisers $14,667,000. Income from milk products totaled $10,464,000, and from fruits and vegetables, $5,784,000. Farm income rose 39 per cent in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and 9 per cent in the Northern High Plains District, but monthly declines in all other crop reporting districts ranged from 25 per cent in Southern Texas Prairies to 60 per cent in Southern High Plains. January income fell below year-earlier levels in all districts.

Northern High Plains farmers recorded the highest dollar income, $8,848,000; Black and Grand Prairies reported $8,118,000, and Southern High Plains, $6,574.

After adjustment for seasonal variation, the Bureau's index of farm cash income fell to 211 per cent of the prewar (1935-39) base period from 337 in December and 310 in January 1948.

What a week! Everything from drenching and dehorning goats to attending high school assemblies and awarding prizes for Soil Conservation essays. Reckon that is what makes us like our jobs—variety!

We were on the farm of Myron Blalock this week and assisted him in drenching and dehorning goats. Colonel Blalock is using these goats to help clear his pastures of brush, briars, and other undesirable growth. The goats are doing a good job in clearing and can be used successfully for this purpose. Fencing is the main problem in handling goats.

Met with the directors of the Cattlemen's Association this week. George Prendergast is president and he and the directors are interested in doing something about pasture improvement and better livestock. The program of the Harrison County Cattlemen's Association is sound and Harrison County beef and dairy producers should participate in this program. This organization is again sponsoring a pasture improvement contest. All interested in participating should contact Mr. Prendergast or the County Agent's office. The practice of creep feeding was discussed and it was decided to try to get some of the members to practice creep feeding. At the annual calf sale there will be prizes awarded for the best creep fed calves. Creep feeding means feeding the calves under pasture conditions while the calves are still small and running with the cows. This practice will actually pay dividends by increasing weight and quality and maintaining better flesh of the mother cows.

Stopped by to see Lester Morgan. Mr. Morgan has 100 acres sown to small grains and winter legumes that he is using for grazing. The best grazing to date has been Abruzzi Rye and winter peas. However Hairy Vetch is beginning to grow and Mr. Morgan stated that it will furnish more grazing than now on than any other crop. He has a field of singletary peas planted on a piece of land that he plans to retire from cultivation and put into permanent pasture. We understand that these peas will not only act as a soil building crop but will also furnish grazing and reseed under pasture conditions. In one field Mr. Morgan has established a good Bermuda grass pasture by fertilizing heavily and growing two crops of corn. In this field the Bermuda grass has spread to where it has practically covered the entire field and the land is now ready to retire to permanent pasture. Mr. Morgan is planning to over-seed this Bermuda pasture with Kobe Lespedeza. This is a good practice. Every good permanent pasture needs a legume as well as a grass.

Looked over a good pasture program with Roy Keith and found him applying super-phosphate fertilizer and over seeding Kobe lespedeza on his pasture land. Mr. Keith's big interest is beef cattle. He has an exceptionally good Santa Gertrudis bull. He is using this bull in his beef cattle breeding program. Santa Gertrudis is a breed of beef cattle developed by the King's ranch here in Texas. Made meetings this week at the High School at Hallsville and the Negro high school at Waskom where winners in the Soil Conservation essay contest were presented their awards. There were three award winners in the Hallsville High school.

Award winners were:
Prize: Name School
$35.00 Clyde Dickard Hallsville
20.00 Warren Haggerty Waskom
15.00 Jimmy Hunt Hallsville
12.50 Willie Melvin May Waskom
7.50 Winston Pittman Hallsville
5.00 Willie Earl Wiley Marshall
2.50 Harold O'Dell Karnack
2.50 Alano M. Davis Marshall

Prize money was furnished by the First National Bank of Marshall. Second Place winner in the Soil Conservation Essay Contest was Warren Haggerty, a Negro girl attending the Central School in Waskom. I made a meeting at this school where the award was presented and attended with James Johnson, work unit leader of the Soil Conservation Service, and F. D. Roland, Negro County Agent. I was pleased to know that this school is participating in all work programs carried on in Harrison County, such as Red Cross, tuberculosis, and March of Dimes drives.

Seed, Phosphate Approvals Given

The Harrison County office of the Production and Marketing Administration reported Saturday that prior approvals and purchase orders are being issued at a rapid rate for super-phosphate and various pasture seed, principally kobe lespedeza.

During the past week, approvals were issued for $2,894.81 worth of superphosphate for 1,643 acres; $50 for white Dutch clover for 50 acres; $28 for dallis grass for 50 acres; $32 for Korean lespedeza for 20 acres.

Approvals for white Dutch clover and dallis grass can be issued only when the producer buys the seed, since no purchase orders can be issued on these materials, according to W. S. Black, new administrative assistant for the county office. The official said $3,745 has been authorized so far for kobe lespedeza, and $500 for sericea lespedeza.

He said also that the first prior approval and purchase order has been issued to John J. Hardy for 20,000 pounds of ray rock 30 per cent phosphate, for $108. Mr. Hardy will be applied to 10 acres. Mr. Black said the PMA approval is for $10.80 per ton, with the farmer paying $10.20 a ton. He pointed out that the phosphate usually can be hauled and applied to the pasture for $4 a ton.

week. This farm is owned and operated by J. J. Hardy. Mr. Hardy is running beef cattle and is interested in a pasture program. Mr. Hardy pointed out spots in his pasture where he had seeded ladino clover and Kentucky 31 Fescue grass. This grass and clover are up to a good stand growing and furnishing some grazing. He had a field sown to rye grass and hop clover that looks good. In addition to pasture improvement, and beef cattle, Mr. Hardy's main hobby in recreation is fishing.

Which reminds me that now is the time to feed the fish. Fish must eat if they are to grow and we feed them by fertilizing the pond. A good fertilizer is 400 pounds of cottonseed meal and 200 pounds of super phosphate for each surface acre of water. Apply this fertilizer broadcast on the surface in the following amounts: first application 300 pounds early in the spring (now with the second and third and fourth applications at 100 pounds following at 4 to 6 weeks intervals. Fertilizer in the pond will make the fish grow and won't hurt the cattle.

Way Unexpected Gold Mines Found On Farm Related

HOUSTON — How people have found unexpected gold mines in agriculture was related here Saturday.

Scene was the annual conference of the Texas Chemurgic Council. The council is devoted to finding such treasures.

A typical example was told at one of the sessions. J. R. Fleming, Weatherford, pecan shelling plant owner, told the story.

His company, he said, is the only one in the nation turning out commercial pecan oil, a product prized by manufacturers of cosmetics. He said the oil has been found to be better for some cosmetics than olive oil.

And Fleming makes the oil out of the 3 per cent of pecan meats that is unfit to package for eating. Even his pecan hulls don't go to waste. Each week he extracts 100,000 pounds of tannin, which the oil drilling industry uses in making drilling mud.

H. W. Wiltfong, Jr., of the Lufkin Pecan Shelling Co., goes another step. It takes what is left from Fleming's processes and makes a fine dust out of it. Explosive manufacturers buy it.
